45 Mounts Perish in Blaze Which Breaks Out at Close of Oakland, Cal., Exhibit—Hints of Incendiarism.

LOSS IN ANIMALS ALONE IS $300,000

Stableman Loses Life Trying to Rescue $35,000 Steed—Groom Tells of Experience—Some Entries Already Had Left.

At Oakland, Cal., Feb. 9.—At least four persons perished and approximately 45 of the finest horses of the West were burned to death here today when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed the sixth annual Oakland Horse Show, housed in temporary wooden structures and tents back of the Civic Auditorium.

The dead were: John L. Thomas, 49 years old, an employee of the Carnation Farm Stables, Pomona, Cal., and Michael McCarthy, employee of the Carnation stables, and two unidentified men.

Several other persons were unaccounted for, but it was thought they were safe and had merely failed to report.

The fire damage was estimated at $350,000, of which $300,000 represented lost horses and $25,000 equipment.

Tom Scott, manager of the Mrs. Mabel Vanderbilt Church Stables, Newport, R. I., expressed belief that the fire was the result of incendiarism. Fire Chief William G. Lacey said he thought the fire started from a cigarette, carelessly thrown.

George W. Baker of Piedmont, a member of the Executive Committee of the show and an exhibitor, said he thought the fire was an accident and that every possible precaution was taken to save life and property. Reports that a woman was missing in the fire added confirmation. Firemen said there were regulations prohibiting smoking.

Barns full of plunging and snorting horses made the scene a bedlam. Some of the prize animals broke through to the open air with hair and flesh flying. Policemen shot them to end their agony.

McCarthy was thought to have died in an attempt to save Carnation Lavendula, a $35,000 horse. The charred body of a man was found beside the burned carcass of the valuable mount. Zero Hour, prize winner of the Colorado National Guard, reached the outside with his blanket afire. He broke a leg in making the getaway and had to be shot.

Harold P. Ryan, one of the attendants, was burned. Ryan said he saw a man burn to death in a stall.

Among the exhibitors known to have lost valuable mounts were Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church of Newport, R. I.; Mrs. Cecelia de Milleville of Los Angeles; Hon. Aaron Frank Stable of Portland, Ore.; the Carnation Farm Stables and Mrs. W. P. Roth of San Francisco.

Mrs. Roth, who lost two of her string of 43 horses, saved 14, including Chief of Longview, Sweetheart On Parade, Fata Morgana, Laurie Ann Springs, Lavendula, Wanda, Flying High, Rio Rita, Cornelia, Peter Pan, Skylark, Meadowlark, Little Sister and Through Express.

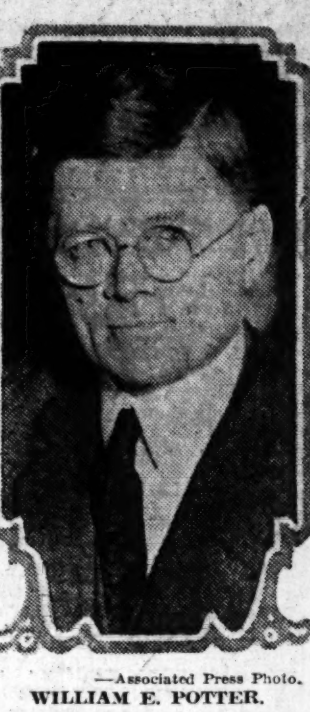

Glen Avon Halo and Chieftain Mischief were the horses lost by Mrs. Church.

The Oakland show is considered one of the major events of its kind in the Far West. Entries included horses of Bridgford Brothers of Jay, Ill.; Harry Gorham, Morris, Ill.; Alene Martell, Oak Park, Ill.; George J. Peak & Sons, Waukegan, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William D. Radford, and Mrs. William A. Radford, Jr., of Chicago; Jeannette Taylor, Lincoln, Neb.

A Groom's Story.

New blue blooded horses, trapped in their stalls, burned to death was related by Lawrence Burton, an employee of the Carnation Farm Stables of Pomona, Cal. "I was sleeping in a stall with five other fellows," said Burton. "I was close to the fire when I heard a watchman running through the building shouting. 'There was smoke all around

LEGISLATOR'S ACT IN CASHING CHECK UNDER INQUIRY

Prosecutor Investigates Payment to Representative Rens, St. Louis for Personal Clerk's Service.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9.—Prosecuting Attorney Sevier of Cole County is investigating the cashing of a House clerk's payroll check by Representative C. C. Rens of St. Louis, Republican Representative from the Second District.

On the first day of the House clerical staff in January, Rens asked for and received a pay check for $31.50 made out to Lawrence Huegel, carried on the payroll as Rens' personal clerk. Rens cashed the check, indorsing Huegel's name and his own on the check.

When the second pay checks for House clerks were issued "two weeks later" Lawrence Huegel Jr., a Jefferson City high school student, appeared and claimed a check for $56 for two weeks' pay as a House Clerk. Prosecuting Attorney Sevier says, young Huegel, known as "Bud," learned in some unexplained manner that his name was being carried on the House payroll and applied for the check on advice of the prosecuting Attorney.

Rens asked that payment on the second check be stopped, explaining that the Jefferson City high school student and his clerk are not the same. Questioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter, Rens admitted that he cashed the first check, stating that he kept $8 due him for a personal loan, and settling the balance to Lawrence Huegel at St. Louis. Pressed for details, Rens said he did not know the St. Louis address of his clerk, who, he says was not in Jefferson City during the present session. He said, in explanation, that he sent the money to Huegel through a third person, whom he declined to name. The Representative declined to discuss the matter further, remarking: "You know we are subject to the dictation of a committee in the appointment of a clerk."

Rens is reported to have remarked that he had not decided whether or not he would go to any great effort to clear himself in the event should the House take action in the case. Speaker Nelson stated that Rens came to him to inquire whether any action would be taken, however.

Rens, who lives at 3400 Magnolia avenue, admitted to a reporter that he was acquainted with "Bud" Huegel through school fraternity activities.

The city directory does not contain the name of Lawrence Huegel.

CLEVELAND GRAFT FIGURE MURDERED ON EVE OF TRIAL

Former Councilman William E. (Rarin' Bill) Potter Found Shot to Death in Apartment.

SLAIN BY SOMEONE AFRAID OF TESTIMONY

This Is Police Theory—Man and Wife Held—Victim Was to Have Gone to Court Today.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 9.—On the eve of his fourth trial growing out of the city land purchase grafts two years ago, former Councilman William E. (Rarin' Bill) Potter was found shot to death—a victim, Prosecutor Ray T. Miller said, of someone who feared his testimony.

Potter's body was found in an East Side apartment house last night with a bullet in the head. He was to have gone on trial today charged with perjury in connection with his testimony in three previous land deal trials in which he was acquitted. Prosecutor Miller said the motive for the killing would be found in some ramifications of the Coit-St. Clair road playground purchase, in which the city was defrauded of $33,000 and for which another former Councilman and his son were sent to the penitentiary. Potter introduced the legislation for the purchase.

Two suspects, a 23-year-old blond woman and her husband, were arrested today. A .38-Caliber revolver was found in their house. The apartment in which Potter's body was found had been occupied by a blond young woman, but there was no evidence that she had actually lived there or that Potter had known her. A man who gave his name as M. J. Marcus had rented the place. Detectives expressed the theory that the woman and "Marcus" had plotted to lure Potter to the apartment and that hired killers were waiting there to fire the fatal shot.

Potter, who was 45 years old, had been dead at least four days, police said. His body was discovered by Mrs. Fred C. Laub, wife of the apartment house owner, who was investigating to find out why the lights in a public contract building were burning four days.

Potter was one of seven men indicted as a result of the Coit-St. Clair deal. Former Councilman Liston G. Schooley and his son, Liston Jr., pleaded guilty of having an interest in a public contract. The younger Schooley, sentenced to one to 10 years, was scheduled for parole today. The father is serving 5 to 10 years.

The slain man was acquitted of harboring Harmon G. Atwater, the "go-between," and of having an interest in the deal. Previously he was acquitted of profiting in another city land purchase.

EGG BOMBARDMENT IS OFF; 100 CASES WILL GO TO CHARITY

Turlock (Cal.) Mayor Says Reports of Proposed Fight Were Exaggerated.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The proposed egg-throwing contest at Turlock has been exaggerated, Mayor J. W. Guy of Turlock said today. It had been reported that Turlock Rotary and Exchange Club members would hold an egg fight, throwing 100 cases of eggs at one another to help stabilize the market.

The Mayor said he did not suggest the fight, as he had been credited with doing, and it was only proposed to throw away a few small baskets of pullet eggs as a ceremonial gesture and give the 100 cases to charity relief organizations.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce said here today George Lyaght, a member who had been quoted as protesting against the proposed egg throwing, spoke individually and not for the chamber.

BLAINE TO INVESTIGATE ST. LOUIS POSTAL LEASES

Says He Has Further Evidence of Political Pressure to Block St. Paul Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senator Blaine said last night he expected to produce "further evidence" of the use of political pressure to prevent a second grand jury investigation of the St. Paul Commercial Postoffice station lease. The Wisconsin Republican has intimated an attempt was made to block the St. Paul investigation for fear it would "blow up" the Presidential campaign of 1932, in the midst of which the grand jury was scheduled to meet to inquire further into the lease which had been pronounced fraudulent by a previous jury.

Permission to appear voluntarily before the committee has been requested by former Postmaster-General Harry S. New. Mr. New wrote Blaine saying he felt he was entitled to be heard in view of recent testimony in which his name was mentioned. This testimony related to the lease at St. Paul. Blaine replied New would have opportunity to testify.

Blaine's committee will begin a series of daily hearings tomorrow which will last virtually to the end of the session.

Among the cases in which witnesses may be heard, he said, are leases in Baltimore, Boston and St. Louis.

MRS. CHARLES P. TAFT'S ESTATE TO HER DAUGHTERS

Only Other Bequest From $50,000,000 Fortune Is $1,000,000 to Art Institute.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Jane Ingalls, Cleveland and Mrs. Louise Semple, Cincinnati, only children of the late Mrs. Charles P. Taft, were bequeathed the entire Taft estate, estimated at more than $50,000,000, in the latter's will which was probated today, with the exception of $1,000,000 given to the Institute of Fine Arts.

The will, a short document, was dated July 1, 1925. Mrs. Taft died 10 days ago.

Mrs. Ingalls is the wife of Albert S. Ingalls, vice president of the New York Central Railroad, and the other daughter is the wife of Prof. William T. Semple, University of Cincinnati.

Control of the Times Star, of which Charles P. Taft was sole owner, passed to the daughters. At the time of his death a year ago he left 16,000 shares of Times Star stock to his widow, 2000 shares to Robert A. Taft, his nephew and editor of the paper, and 1000 shares each to Robert A. Taft and Charles P. Taft II, nephews and sons of the late President William Howard Taft.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR THE CHICAGO EVENING POST

George F. Getz to Continue Publication—Assets Said to Be Less Than $2,000,000 Liabilities.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—George F. Getz, wealthy business man and sportsman, was appointed receiver for the Chicago Evening Post today and authorized to continue publishing the paper.

John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Post for 30 years, retired Saturday at about the same time a receiver-petition was filed in Superior Court.

In announcing that the paper was passing "out of my control" Shaffer said "the financial burden of carrying the Post as a public-service enterprise has become greater than my other responsibilities justify me in bearing."

He emphasized that "none of my other business interests is involved in the affairs of the Chicago Evening Post." He is publisher of the Indianapolis Star, the Muncie Star and Terre Haute Star.

The Arthur Dixon Transfer Co. took a $500 judgment against the paper and reported that no property was found when an attempt was made to serve the judgment. The bill said the liabilities of the Post were $2,000,000 and the assets less than that amount.

MAJ. GEN. BUTLER REPRIMANDED, BUT TRIAL IS DROPPED

Secretary of Navy, in Sharp Letter, Rebukes Marine Officer for Embarrassing Government.

BRILLIANT RECORD WINS CONSIDERATION

Court martial Called Off on Explanation Objectionable Speech Was Confidential.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—There will be no court martial for Major-General Smedley D. Butler of the Marine Corps.

Instead, after expressing regret for his recent "indiscreet remarks" concerning Premier Mussolini of Italy, the outspoken officer yesterday drew a sharply worded reprimand from Secretary of the Navy Adams which included a hope the incident would have "a salutary effect on your future conduct in matters of this character."

The action was taken evidently after consultation between Butler's legal representatives and the Navy Department. The General placed his regrets in a letter which said that the speech responsible for his troubles, made Jan. 19 before the Contemporary Club of Philadelphia, was delivered under assurance that his words would not get out of the room. Butler's concluding sentence was: "I very greatly regret this incident and the fact that my indiscreet remarks have caused embarrassment to the Government."

What Charges Specified.

The charges which were lodged against Butler before plans for a court martial were dropped alleged "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline" and "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

Specifications based on these charges are referred to Gen. Butler's Philadelphia speech in which he referred to Premier Mussolini of Italy as a "hit and run" automobile driver. Details of the formal charges were disclosed today after it had developed that the Marine General had spent 1000 wards in Washington and that the decision to abandon the court martial was reached Saturday night after secret conferences between Butler and his counsel and high Government officials.

The charges contained nearly 1000 words. Reviewing the circumstances of Butler's speech before the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia, the specifications said the statements "were of a nature to give offense to the Government of Italy, to bring the Prime Minister of a friendly Government into contempt and derision, and to embarrass the Government of the United States in its foreign relations . . . which conduct of the said Butler as aforesaid was wholly irregular, unofficer-like and prejudicial to good order and naval discipline."

"Indifference to Obligation."

In the second count, the charges said Butler "exhibited culpable indifference to his obligations as an officer and a gentleman by, knowingly, willfully and publicly repeating and circulating the aforesaid hearsay and derogatory statements, which he, the said Butler, then and there well knew tended to vilify, offend and insult the aforesaid Signor Mussolini, both as an individual and as Prime Minister."

Butler remained in the home of a friend Saturday, but went with his counsel, Maj. Henry Leonard, to the Navy Department Sunday morning to talk over the situation with Secretary Adams.

At the request of the State Department, the Navy Department has given Ambassador de Maglino of Italy a copy of the correspondence between Secretary Adams and Butler relative to the calling off of the court-martial.

The transmission of the correspondence was informal, but was considered by State Department and military officials as ending the matter definitively as far as the two Governments are concerned.

Mussolini, in a dispatch to the embassy more than a week ago, said he considered the incident closed by the apology the American Government made to him.

Test of Butler's Letter.

Butler's letter to the Naval Secretary follows:

"In connection with the decision of the department to try me by general court-martial it is requested that consideration be given to

DELEGATIONS TO PROTEST AGAINST GARY TAX BILLS

St. Louisans to Visit Capitol to Oppose Measures for Heavy Increase of State Income Tax.

TWO TRAINLOADS TO GO WEDNESDAY

400 Business Men at Luncheon Sponsored by Chamber of Commerce Arrange Plan.

About 400 St. Louis business men at a luncheon at Hotel Jefferson today adopted a resolution opposing the Gary tax increase bills now before the Legislature and laid plans to send a protesting delegation to Jefferson City Wednesday.

The luncheon was under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and was attended by representatives of several business and civic organizations.

It was announced that two special trains would carry the delegation to the capital. One under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce will depart from Union Station at 9 a. m., the other under the auspices of the Associated Industries of Missouri will depart at 10 a. m.

"Railroading" Charged.

The tax bills were denounced in the resolution as "unjust, unreasonable and unfair" measures which are being "jammed and railroaded through the House of Representatives."

Walter B. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in a short talk, said the principal Gary bill, which would increase the State income tax on individuals and corporations on a sliding scale, actually would produce nearly three times the revenue which the State Survey Commission had estimated. That is, this amount would be produced if industries were not driven from the State, as he feared they would be.

Heavy Tax Increase Proposed.

One of the Gary bills would double the State corporation franchise tax, making it one-tenth per cent on par value of outstanding capital stock and surplus, instead of one-twentieth of 1 per cent, the rate now in effect.

The Gary bills were prepared and submitted to the Legislature by Theodore Gary of Macon and Kansas City who was chairman of the State Survey Commission created by the Legislature two years ago.

The Survey Commission recommended a program of improvement of the State institutions and educational facilities which it estimated would require additional revenues of about $158,000,000 in 10 years. The commission did not draft proposed legislation to make its recommendations effective, but after the expiration of its legal existence, Gary had the bills drawn up.

Weisenburger said the proposed bills would actually increase the revenue a total of $390,308,000 in 12 years—an amount far beyond the needs set forth in the Survey Commission's report.

Scullin Talks of Moving.

The danger that industries would leave the State if the tax bills are enacted should not be regarded lightly, Weisenburger said. He referred to the fact that Harry Scullin, president of the Scullin Steel Co., had said his concern would consider moving if the taxes are increased as proposed.

R. E. Lake, general counsel of the International Shoe Co., said his company had shown a preference for Missouri locations, having 20 plants in this State against 11 in Illinois, but added:

"If the State slaps us in the face with these outrageous tax increases, our board of directors, in fairness to the stockholders, will be forced to consider transferring our activities more and more to other states."

Lake said these tax increases would have to be figured in the prices the manufacturers would have to ask for their products, which would place Missouri industries at a disadvantage in competition with manufacturers located in other states with less burdensome taxes. He feared this competition would either drive the industries out of the State or out of business, reducing employment and wiping out the sources of taxable wealth.

The Gary tax bills have been reported favorably by the House Special Survey Committee after brief hearings, and the Senate Ways and Means Committee will hold a hearing on them Wednesday. The committee chairman, Senator Russell, said he would report favorably.

BANKER'S SON WEDS NEW YORK SINGER

MR. AND MRS. ROGER WOLFE KAHN.

Roger's Bride Is Hanna Williams Who First Sang 'Cheerful Little Earful.'

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Announcement by William Rose, producer of the musical comedy "Sweet and Low," that Miss Hanna Williams would leave the cast of his production led yesterday to the discovery that she had been married Jan. 26 to Roger Wolfe Kahn, younger son of Otto H. Kahn, banker and backer of the Metropolitan Opera.

Miss Williams is the woman who first sang "Cheerful Little Earful," so familiar to theater and radio audiences. She also introduced the popular song "Get Happy." She had one of the leading singing and dancing parts in "Sweet and Low."

Records at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., show that Kahn and Miss Williams were married at the Kahn home there two weeks ago, and established a night club. He also piloted his own airplane and won a transport permit.

Roger Wolfe Kahn at 17 deserted the family tradition of banking and announced that he would not enter the banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., but would devote his life to music. He formed an orchestra and appeared in vaudeville with it, and established a night club. He also piloted his own airplane and won a transport permit.

PRESIDENT PROMISES SYMPATHETIC RELIEF ACTION

Assures Senator Robinson of "Purpose of Real Aid" in Administration of the $20,000,000 Compromise Fund.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER ASKS FOR PASSAGE

Thinks Acceptance "Necessary and Proper"—Break-Up of Agreement Had Been Threatened; Denounced in House as a "Sham."

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Joining with President Hoover in an effort to quiet a threatened Democratic-progressive Republican rebellion against the so-called compromise on drouth relief measures, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader, undertook in the Senate late this afternoon to explain the terms of the settlement and his reasons for accepting it.

The President earlier today had sent assurance to Robinson of a sympathetic administration of the compromise loan fund.

Robinson was subjected to a severe hazing by several of his Democratic colleagues. Speaking in a conciliatory way that contrasted sharply with his recent attacks on the Administration's relief policies, the minority leader said he was convinced that acceptance of the compromise was "necessary and proper."

Robinson was discussing the conference report on the Interior Department bill, which had just been brought in by Senator Smoot. The report carries the compromise arrangement, which provides a $20,000,000 loan fund for "agricultural rehabilitation" in addition to the previously voted $45,000,000 for feed, seed and fertilizer loans to farmers in the drouth areas.

The compromise was adopted by the conferees in lieu of the Robinson amendment, which would have appropriated $25,000,000 to the Red Cross for general relief purposes throughout the United States.

Compromise Necessary.

Robinson said that a compromise had been made necessary by the opposition of the President to any draft on the Treasury for general relief and by the unyielding attitude of the House leaders in support of the President.

He pointed to the liberalization of the earlier relief measure, so as to permit loans to be made for the feeding of all live stock and not merely workstock, as one of the excellent features of the compromise. Certain regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture in the administration of the fund would also be relaxed, he said.

One of the reasons which impelled him to accept the compromise, he went on, was the prospect of prompt action in advancing credits to needy farmers. Credit facilities in the drouth area, he said, had almost completely broken down, and in consequence bankers and merchants were in a desperate plight.

Crucial Part of Compromise.

Coming then to the crucial part of the compromise—that in which the use of the word "food" is studiously avoided and the word "rehabilitation" is used instead—Robinson denied that he had taken part in any "face saving process."

"If I hadn't believed that the arrangement was fairly calculated to accomplish the purpose for which it was intended, I would not have yielded," he said.

He went on to explain, in circuitous language, that a farmer who was able to give security would be able to get a loan from the Government for any purpose within the meaning of the term "rehabilitation."

"But how," remarked Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, "is a farmer who can't furnish security going to get a loan?"

Robinson replied that such cases would arise, and the only recourse then would be to the Red Cross.

"In view of the arbitrary and brutal regulations set up by Secretary Hyde for the administration of the $45,000,000 fund," remarked ployee of the Carnation stables, and two unidentified men.

Several other persons were unaccounted for, but it was thought they were safe and had merely fled to report.

The fire damage was estimated at $250,000, of which $300,000 represented lost horses and $25,000 equipment.

Tom Scott, manager of the Mrs.
Mabel Vanderbilt Church Stables,
Newport, R. I., expressed belief that the fire was the result of in-cendianism. Fire Chief William G.
Lickey said he thought the fire started from a cigarette, carelessly thrown.

George W. Baker of Piedmont, a member of the Executive Com-said he thought the fire was an accident and that every possible precaution was taken to save life

LEGISLATOR'S ACT IN CASHING CHECK UNDER INQUIRY

Prosecutor Investigates Payment to Representative Rens, St. Louis for Personal Clerk's Service.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9.—
Prosecuting Attorney Sevier of Cole County is investigating the cashing of a House clerk's payroll check by Representative C. C. Rens of St. Louis, Republican Representative from the Second District.

On the first pay day for the House clerical staff in January, Rens asked for and received a paycheck for $31.50 made out to Lawrence Huegel, carried on the payroll as Rens' personal clerk. Rens cashed the check, indorsing Huegel's name and his own on the check.

When the second pay checks for House clerks were issued two weeks later Lawrence Huegel Jr., a Jefferson City high school student, appeared and claimed a check for $36 for two weeks' pay as a House Clerk. Prosecuting Attorney Sevier says, young Huegel, known as "Bud," learned in some unexplained manner that his name was being carried on the House payroll and applied for the check on advice of the Prosecuting Attorney.

Rens asked that payment on the second check be stopped, explaining that the Jefferson City high school student and his clerk are not the same. Questioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter, Rens admitted that he cashed the first check, stating that he kept $8 due him for a personal loan, and sending the balance to Lawrence Huegel at St. Louis. Pressed for details, Rens said he did not know the St. Louis address of his clerk, who, he says was not in Jefferson City during the present session. He said, in explanation, that he sent the money to Huegel through a third person, whom he declined to name. The Representative declined to discuss the matter further, remarking: "You know we are subject to the dictation of the committeeman in the appointment of a clerk."

Rens is reported to have remarked that he had not decided whether or not he would go to any great effort to clear himself in the event should the House take action in the case. Speaker Nelson stated that Rens came to him to inquire whether any action would be taken, however.

Rens, who lives at 3400 Magnolia avenue, admitted to a reporter that he was acquainted with "Bud" Huegel through school fraternity activities.

The city directory does not contain the name of Lawrence Huegel.

POPE DECIDES DEFINITELY TO MAKE TALK ON RADIO

By the Associated Press.
VATICAN CITY, Feb. 9.—Pope Plus decided definitely today to make a brief radio speech Thursday, when the Vatican City radio station is officially opened. He will speak in Latin and the announcer probably will follow with a translation in English and perhaps other languages.

The Pope's message may consist of only a few phrases as his formal address at a ceremony at the Vatican Academy later will be broadcast, as will other speeches by Senator Guglielmo Marconi and others.
The formal address also will be in Latin.

The program has been definitely set for 4 to 6 p. m. local time (9 a.
m. to 11 a. m. P. M. Louis time).

CLEVELAND GRAFT FIGURE MURDERED ON EVE OF TRIAL

Former Councilman William E. (Rarin' Bill) Potter Found Shot to Death in Apartment.

SLAIN BY SOMEONE AFRAID OF TESTIMONY

This Is Police Theory—Man and Wife Held —Victim Was to Have Gone to Court Today.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 9.—On the eve of his fourth trial growing out of the city land purchase grants two years ago, former Councilmann William E. (Rarin' Bill) Potter was found shot to death—a victim, Prosecutor Ray T. Miller said, of someone who feared his testimony.

Potter's body was found in an East Side apartment house last night with a bullet in the head.
He was to have gone on trial today charged with perjury in connection with his testimony in three previous land deal trials in which he was acquitted. Prosecutor Miller said the motive for the killing would be found in some ramifica-tion of this Coit-St. Clair road playground purchase, in which the city was defrauded of $33,000, and for which another former Councilman and his son were sent to the penitentiary. Potter introduced the legislation for the purchase.

Two suspects, a 25-year-old blond woman and her husband, were arrested today. A 38-caliber revolver was found in their house.
The apartment in which Potter's body was found had been occupied by a blond woman, but there was no evidence that she had actually lived there or that Potter had known her. A man who gave his name as M. J. Marcus had rented the place. Detectives expressed the theory that the woman and "Marcus" had plotted to kill Potter to the apartment and that other killers were waiting there to fire the fatal shots.

Potter, who was 45 years old,
had been dead at least four days,
police said. His body was discovered by Mrs. Fred C. Laub, wife of the apartment house owner, who was investigating to find out why the lights of the suite had been burning four days.

Potter was one of seven men indicted as a result of the Coit-St.
Clair deal. Former Councilman
Liston J. Schooley and his son, Liston Jr., pleaded guilty of having an interest in a public contract.
The younger Schooley, sentenced to 10 years, was scheduled for parole today. The father is serving 5 to 10 years.

The slain man was acquitted of harboring Harmon G. Atwater, the "go-between," and of having an interest in the deal. Poter was acquitted of profiting in another city land purchase.

STOCK PRICES RISE IN MOST ACTIVE TRADING OF YEAR

Advances of More Than $2 Are Shown Throughout List—Oil Decision a Factor.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Shorts were in hasty retreat in the stock market today as prices rallied in the most active trading since last December.

Last Saturday's advance had carried the Standard Statistics-Associated Price averages to a new high for the year and the bear factor, eager to avoid being trapped, resumed buying with today's opening, eager to purchase stocks sold at higher prices in order to save a profit.

Approval of Vacuum-Standard Oil of New York merger helped speculative sentiment and the oil shares were strong. Auburn Auto, however, was the individual feature, soaring $18.75.

Shares up $3 to $4 a share included U. S. Steel, American Can, Allied Chemical, Case, Westinghouse Electric, North American, American Tobacco B. Air Reduction, Norfolk & Western, Atchafson, Coca Cola, Eastman, Dupont, Jewel
Tea, Bethlehem Steel, Worthington and Loews. A long list of prominent issues sold up $2 or more, including General Motors and American Telephone. Radio and General Electric gained about $1.

Sales total 4,100,000 shares, in marked contrast to the small turnovers since the first of the year.
Grain prices also rose. July wheat was up 2 cents a bushel and corn futures rallied nearly as much.

Jobs in New York City.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—There are 70,345 heads of families without employment in New York City according to a Police Department census begun three months ago.
Police Commissioner Mulrooney announced today.

EGG BOMBARDMENT IS OFF; 100 CASES WILL GO TO CHARITY

Turlock (Cal.) Mayor Says Reports of Proposed Fight Were Exaggerated.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The proposed egg-throwing contest at Turlock has been exaggerated, Mayor J. W. Guy of Turlock said today. It had been reported that Turlock Rotary and Exchange Club members would hold an egg fight, throwing 100 cases of eggs at one another to help stabilize the market.

The Mayor said he did not suggest the fight, as he had been credited with doing, and it was only proposed to throw away a few small baskets of pulled eggs as a ceremonial gesture, and give the 100 cases to charity relief organizations.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce said here today George Ly-saght, a member who had been quoted as protesting against the proposed egg throwing, spoke individually and not for the chamber.

BLAINE TO INVESTIGATE
ST. LOUIS POSTAL LEASES

Says He Has Further Evidence of Political Pressure to Block
St. Paul Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senator Blaine said last night he expected to produce "further evidence" of the use of political pressure to prevent a second grand jury investigation of the St. Paul Commercial Postoffice station lease. The Wisconsin Republican has indicated that he was edited to block the St. Paul investigation for fear it would "blow up"
the Presidential campaign of 1928,
in the midst of which the grand jury was scheduled to meet to inquire further into the lease which had been pronounced fraudulent
by a previous jury.

Permission to appear voluntarily before the committee has been requested by former Postmaster-General Harry S. New. Mr. New wrote Blaine saying he was edited to block the St. Paul investigation for fear it would "blow up"
the Presidential campaign of 1928,
in the midst of which the grand jury was scheduled to meet to inquire further into the lease which
had been pronounced fraudulent
by a previous jury.

Blaine's committee will begin a series of daily hearings tomorrow which will last virtually to the end of the session.

Among the cases in which witnesses may be called, he said, are leases in Baltimore, Boston and St.
Louis.

MRS. CHARLES P. TAFT'S ESTATE TO HER DAUGHTERS

Only Other Bequest From $50-000,000 Fortune Is $100,000 to Art Institute.

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—Mrs.
Jane Ingalls, Cleveland and Mrs.
Louise Semple, Cincinnati, only children of the late Mrs. Charles P.
Taft, were bequeathed the entire Taft estate, estimated at more than $50,000,000, in the latter's will which was probated today, with the exception of $100,000 given to the Institute of Fine Arts.

The will, a short document, was dated July 1, 1925. Mrs. Taft died 10 days ago.

Mrs. Ingalls is the wife of Albert
S. Ingalls, vice president of the New York Central Railroad, and the other daughter is the wife of Prof. William T. Semple, University of Cincinnati.

Control of the Times Star, of which Charles P. Taft was sole owner, passed to the daughters. At the time of his death a year ago he left 18,000 shares of Times Star stock to his widow, 2000 shares to Robert Taft, his nephew and editor of the paper, and 1000 shares each to Robert A. Taft and Charles P. Taft II, nephews and sons of the late President William Howard Taft.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR THE CHICAGO EVENING POST

George F. Getz to Continue Publication—Assets Said to Be Less Than $2,000,000 Liabilities.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—George F.
Getz, wealthy business man and sportsman, was appointed receiver for the Chicago Evening Post today and authorized to continue publishing the paper.

John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Post for 20 years, retired Saturday at about the same time a receivership petition was filed in Superior Court.

In announcing that the paper was passing "out of my control," Shaffer said "the financial burden of carrying the Post as a public-service enterprise has become greater than my other responsibilities justify me in bearing."

He emphasized that "none of my other business interests is involved in the affairs of the Chicago Evening Post." He is publisher of the Indianapolis Star, the Muncie Star and Terre Haute Star.

The Arthur Dixon Transfer Co. took a $500 judgment against the paper and reported that no property was found when an attempt was made to serve the judgment.
The bill said the liabilities of the Post were $2,000,000 and the assets less than that amount.

MAJ. GEN. BUTLER REPRIMANDED, BUT TRIAL IS DROPPED

Secretary of Navy, in Sharp Letter, Rebukes Marine Officer for Embarrassing Government.

BRILLIANT RECORD
WINS CONSIDERATION

Court-martial Called Off on Explanation Objectionable Speech Was Confidential.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—There will be no court-martial for Major-General Smedley D. Butler of the Marine Corps.

Instead, after expressing regret for his recent "indiscreet remarks" concerning Premier Mussolini of Italy, the outspoken officer yesterday drew a sharply worded reprimand from Secretary of the Navy Adams which included a hope the incident would have "a salutary effect on your future conduct in matters of this character."

The action was taken evidently after consultation between Butler's legal representatives and the Navy Department. The General placed his regrets in a letter which said that the speech responsible for his troubles, made Jan. 19 before the Contemporary Club of Philadelphia, was delivered under assurance that his words would not get out of the room. Butler's concluding sentence was:

"I very greatly regret this incident and the fact that my indiscreet remarks have caused embarrassment to the Government."

What Charges Specified.
The charges which were lodged against Butler before plans for his court-martial were dropped alleged "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline" and "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

Specifications based on these charges are related to Gen.
Butler's Philadelphia speech in which he referred to Premier Mussolini of Italy as a "hit and run" automaton. Details of the formal charges were disclosed today after it had developed that the Marine General had spent last Saturday in Washington and that the decision to abandon the court-martial was reached Saturday night after secret conferences between Butler and his counsel and high Government officials.

The charges contained nearly 1000 words. Reviewing the circumstances of Butler's speech before the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia, the specifications set the statements "were of a nature to give offense to the Government of Italy, to bring the Prime Minister of a friendly Government into contempt and disrespect, and to embarrass the Government of the United States in its foreign relations" which conduct of the said Butler "as aforesaid was wholly irregular, unofficer-like and prejudicial to good order and naval discipline."

"Indifference to Obligation."
In the second count, the charges said Butler "exhibited culpable in-diference to his obligations as an officer and a gentleman by knowingly, wilfully and publicly repeating and circulating the aforesaid hearsay and derogatory statements, which he, said Butler, then and there well knew tended to vilify, offend and insult the aforesaid Signor Mussolini both as an individual and as Prime Minister."

Butler remained in the home of a friend Saturday, but went with his counsel, Maj. Henry Leonard, to the Navy Department Sunday morning to talk over the situation with Secretary Adams.

At the request of the State Department, the Navy Department has given Ambassador de Maglino of Italy a copy of the correspondence between Secretary Adams and Butler relative to the calling off of the court-martial.

The transmission of the correspondence was informal, but was considered by State Department and embassy officials as ending the matter definitely as far as the two Governments are concerned.

Mussolini in a dispatch to the embassy more than a week ago, said he considered the incident closed by the apology the American Government made to him.

BANKER'S SON WEDS NEW YORK SINGER

MR. AND MRS. ROGER WOLFE
KAHN.

SON OF OTTO KAHN MARRIES AN ACTRESS

Roger's Bride Is Hanna Williams Who, First Sang
'Cheerful Little Earful'

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Announcement by William Rose, producer of the musical comedy
"Sweet and Low," that Miss Hanna Williams would leave the cast of his production led yesterday to the discovery that she had been married Jan. 26 to Roger Wolfe Kahn, younger son of Otto H. Kahn, banker and backer of the Metropolitan Opera.

Miss Williams is the woman who first sang "Cheerful Little Earful," so familiar to theater and radio audiences. She also introduced the popular song "Get Happy."
She had one of the leading singing and dancing parts in "Sweet and Low."

Records at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., show that Kahn and Miss Williams were married at the Kahn home there two weeks ago. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace John Deane. Yesterday a group of friends assembled at Otto Kahn's New York residence and heard the formal announcement.

The records give Kahn's age as 23 and his bride's as 20. She was married when she was 16 to Charles Kaley. The marriage was annulled in Chicago in 1927.

Roger Wolfe Kahn at 17 deserted the family tradition of banking and announced that he would enter the banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., but would devote his life to music. He formed an orchestra and appeared in vaudeville with it, and established a night club. He also piloted his own airplane and won a transport permit

COMMANDER SAYS MARINES SHOULD NOT BE RECALLED FROM NICARAGUA

National Guard Would Mutiny, Gen. Fuller Testifies—Cost of Service
There and Elsewhere
$13,456,228.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FAVORS NAVY CUT

Reduces Annual Supply Bill by $36,310,000—Overrides Secretary Adams' Request for More Officers and Academy Students.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Marines should be kept in Nicaragua, in the view of the House Committee on Appropriations during hearings on the navy supply bill, reported today, "leaving American officers in charge of those Indians, because they would be very likely to mutiny and chase the American officers out."

"It would not do to take all the marines away," Major-General Ben H. Fuller told the House Appropriations Committee during hearings on the navy supply bill, reported today, "leaving American officers in charge of those Indians, because they would be very likely to mutiny and chase the American officers out."

The cost to this country to date of the recent marine foreign occupations—China, Nicaragua, Santo Domingo and Haiti—was set by the Quartermaster-General, Brigadier-General Hugh Matthews, at $13,456,228.

Detailed Expenses. The expenses of keeping the marines in China, over the cost had the forces been at home, was $4,514,532; in Nicaragua, $5,517,532; in Santo Domingo, $1,211,491; and in Haiti, $2,212,674. Supervision of the 1930 Nicaraguan election entailed the expenditure of $154,840. The larger figure covers expenses in Santo Domingo, Haiti and Nicaragua, since July 1, 1929, and in China since February 1927. The Santo Domingo expenses included maintenance until August, 1924.

Gen. Fuller indicated more difficulties had been found in Nicaragua than any of the other countries. He pointed out that the last year six marines had been killed and two wounded there. He did not include the eight killed and two wounded there. At present, the commandant said, there are 85 officers and 979 enlisted men in the country.

"The present number of Marines," he testified, "is about the least number that should be kept there to support the Nicaraguan Guard or the National Guard with American officers in charge of the National Guard. They must have American backing as a support and as a question of policy."

The commandant added that, although the Nicaraguan National Guard "probably" could be depended upon to keep peace in the country, withdrawal of Marines "is a question of policy of the State Department."

There are plenty of men in Nicaragua who would be willing to take the job of General or Colonel, but they would not necessarily have the ability to handle the job and keep the National Guard in the same state of efficiency in which it is now," he explained. "It takes a good while to make a good soldier out of anybody, and it takes much longer to make one out of a Nicaraguan," he replied.

$36,310,000 Cut in Funds. Sharp curtailment of the naval establishment in the next fiscal year became certain when the House received from the Appropriations Committee the annual supply bill providing $344,342,000, a cut of $36,310,000 from the current year.

Overriding a request by Secretary Adams for more commissioned officers, the committee recommended a sharp decrease in Naval Academy classes, with drastic provisions to limit demands of naval aviation on line officers. It approved by Congress, the appointments to Annapolis allotted to each member of Congress would be reduced from four to three with $489 retained at the maximum limit of active commissioned officers. Adams had recommended an increase from four to five in appointments and the addition of more than 2000 officers.

Except the second deficiency measure, today's is the last of the big appropriation bills for congressional action at this session. It is $3,451,000 less than the budget estimates.

Cut in Ships of the Line. Economies were effected in reducing ships of the line and crews. Withdrawal of four battleships, three by London treaty terms, curtailment of enlisted naval personnel from 84,700 to 79,700 and Marine Corps strength of 12,000 to 11,000, and a smaller outlay for construction of new craft figured in the reduction. In addition, old submarines and destroyers, as well as old cruisers,

BELLE LIVINGSTONE.

A STAGE favorite of years ago, who was sentenced last Friday for contempt of a federal order prohibiting violation of the prohibition law for her activities in a night club. The 60-year-old actress was sentenced to a Harlem prison for women by Judge Caffey, who said he was lenient because of her age.

As compared to the cost of $48,955,000 for construction of 10,000-ton eight-inch cruisers this year, the bill allows but $28,550,000 in the next. No funds are carried for modernization of the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho. Authorization for this work is pending in the House, the Senate having already approved it.

In the committee's report, Representative French (Rep.), Idaho, chairman of the naval subcommittee, said the battleship Florida was being decommissioned for disposal; the Utah was to become a radio-controlled target vessel and the Wyoming had been placed in reduced commission with a view to conversion to a training ship. In the spring, he said, the Arkansas also would be withdrawn.

Reduction for Aviation. Naval aviation was allowed $21,140,000, a reduction of $1,150,000, but the report said the branch would have completed its five-year expansion with 1000 planes early in the next fiscal year. It noted that 11,740 enlisted men were in the branch and urged the navy be required to draw commissioned aviators from the naval reserve and not from the naval academy.

To avoid what it termed "enormously distorted" number of junior officers now in aviation, the committee recommended reducing the number of regular officers assigned to the air by increasing from 70 to 140 the reserve pilots on duty next year.

A further provision to prevent a promotion "hump" would prevent expansion in the number of officers above the grade of Lieutenant-Commander in the naval air corps. At present there are 35 above this grade.

Another committee change designed to reduce the large discharge of surplus academy graduates, expected to number 200 next June, would prevent appointment from enlisted ranks of candidates who have not had nine months' service at sea.

"Not Right to Taxpayers." "It is not right to the taxpayers to be educating a large surplus of boys for whom no commissions are available," French said in his report. "The Navy Department can and should look to the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps graduates for their staff corps appointments."

Demand of the air service was said by French to be the principal reason why the navy "finds itself pinched today for line officers." "Why should this course be continued when we are reliably informed that college graduates in abundant numbers, educated at their own expense, are ready and willing to qualify and serve on extended details as commissioned reserve aviators?" asked the committee report.

Under the lighter-than-air craft division the question of building the second of the giant dirigibles contracted for was settled. The measure carries $675,000 to complete the ZRS-4 and $1,000,000 to begin work on the ZRS-5.

DRIVER ACCUSED OF CARELESSNESS IN BABY'S DEATH

Infant Hurdled From Mother's Arms Against Windshield of Auto That Struck Woman.

A coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today in the death of 13-month-old Dorothy Hule, who was killed at 1 a. m. yesterday when hurled from her mother's arms against the windshield of an automobile, which struck the mother, Mrs. Alice Hule, 19, 3502 Franklin avenue, at Grand boulevard and St. Louis avenue.

The verdict names Forrest Kutka, 23, a carpenter, 3212 Miami street, the driver, Robert Shain, a taxi driver, testified the machine was southbound at a speed of 40 miles an hour and swerved suddenly, striking Mrs. Hule, who was standing in the street waiting for a street car. The driver continued for half a block before stopping, Shain said. His testimony was corroborated by another witness.

Police testified that Kutka, who was accompanied by two women and another man, told them his car was forced into the street car tracks by another machine, and swerved in an unexplained manner. Two arrows are painted on the pavement where Mrs. Hule was standing, but the place is not otherwise marked as a safety zone, the officers said.

Kutka, who will be required to give $5000 bond, did not testify.

The matters hereinafter set forth. "I was told by the President of the Contemporary Club, before which I spoke on Jan. 19, 1931, that I could speak my mind freely and from his remarks, taken in their entirety, I understood that the club was composed of responsible members of the community interested in public questions and that my statements were to be confined to the limits of the four walls."

"This information is submitted on the assumption that it was not in the department's possession when it was decided to bring me to trial.

"I very greatly regret this incident and the fact that my indiscreet remarks have caused embarrassment to the Government."

The reply of Secretary Adams follows:

"1. The Navy Department is in receipt of your letter of Feb. 7, 1931, in which you express regret for the character of the remarks made by you before the Contemporary Club of Philadelphia on Jan. 19, 1931, and in which you invite attention to the fact that prior to your delivery of the address you were assured by the president of the club that you could speak your mind freely and that from his remarks taken in their entirety you understood that the club was composed of responsible members of the community, interested in public questions and that your statements were to be confined to the limits of the four walls."

"In his interpretation published in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, said of 'this last provision aimed to restore credit facilities for those who have security to offer.' . . . 'This program avoids doles or direct charity from the Federal Treasury or any implication thereof.'"

Hyde said the Red Cross was adequately caring for the needs of the distressed "who have no resources and therefore no security to offer for loans" and that "the provision for adequate credit for those who can offer security" was the "remote cause of recovery."

In the House, meanwhile, Representative LaGuardia (Rep.), said the "chance for recovery on loan is very remote," the compromise approves the compromise proposal.

The New Yorker said there were 400,000 to 500,000 unemployed in his home city, and that $2,000,000 was being spent monthly from private sources on relief.

Advocating unemployment insurance, LaGuardia said, "there isn't an industry that doesn't set aside money for the depreciation of machinery," while similar proposals for the protection of workers are held to be "radical and socialist."

The Red Cross campaign for a $10,000,000 drought relief fund today passed the $7,000,000 mark, the total being $7,052,977.

Congressman Asks Home Folks' View of Compromise. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 9.—The $20,000,000 "compromise" agreement was called a "tragedy" by Congressman Tillman B. Parks of Arkansas, in a telegram today to Lieutenant-Governor Lawrence E. Wilson, asking for the opinion of the Arkansas Senate. The telegram was read to the Senate by Wilson, the presiding officer. The telegram follows:

"Alleged compromise for drought relief for rehabilitation only and to my mind means nothing."

"No money will be loaned by the Government without adequate security. With the large numbers being fed by the Red Cross there, how can they furnish security?" "The situation has become so tense here and conditions there so critical, that I do not want to depend upon my judgment alone. I regard the compromise as a tragedy and I am willing to continue the fight if I can aid my people. Would like to know the opinions of your body at once."

NYE TO LOOK INTO CANNON'S USE OF ANTI-SMITH FUND

Bishop Accounted for Half of $65,000 at Senate Lobby Hearing, Then Walked Out.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Senate Campaign Funds Committee last night decided to inquire into the handling of anti-Smith campaign funds in Virginia in 1928 by Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Officers of three banks have been summoned to appear before the committee Wednesday afternoon to testify regarding the expenditure. Bishop Cannon, exonerated Saturday of a series of unnamed charges by a committee of 12 elders of his church, testified before the Senate Lobby Committee last night that he received more than $65,000 from E. C. Jameson of New York for use in the drive against Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate. Only about half of this amount was accounted for, however, the Bishop walking out on the committee without informing it what was done with the remainder.

Chairman Nye of the Campaign Funds Committee said today he would make every effort to trace the remainder of the anti-Smith fund. His committee recently was empowered to investigate 1928 campaign activities under a resolution by Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia.

The names of the summoned bank officials will be withheld pending receipt of notice of service of the subpoenas.

After a victory against serious accusations brought within his church, Bishop Cannon remained in a well-satisfied mood today, republishing in a return to his district, here, as an answer to the skepticism of Moscow, which does not believe such things are possible without iron control from above.

Raising Wages the Remedy For Depression, Economist Says

Prof. Shotwell of Columbia U. Advocates Improving the Lot of Common Man in Carnegie Peace Endowment Analysis.

Copyright, 1931, by The Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—In an analysis of the world's economic condition, issued by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Prof. James T. Shotwell discusses the depression as an ultimate benefit in forcing rectification of the "system under which civilization has reached such a climax of organization and of maladjustment."

Rejecting "socialistic and communist doctrines which offer a ready-made solution to a process as complex as history itself," Dr. Shotwell, who occupies the chair of history at Columbia University and is head of the economics and history division of the Carnegie Endowment, affirms nevertheless that "the remedy must be as radical as the disorder is profound."

Dr. Shotwell sees salvation in improving the lot of the common man. "Wages must be increased," he says, "not to some limited point which the experience of the past assigns, but proportionately to the development of industry itself. This is the challenge to economics which the mercurial industry gives back as an answer to the skepticism of Moscow, which does not believe such things are possible without iron control from above."

Peace Hangs on Prosperity. On this, he says, depends not only the prosperity of the United States, but the peace of the world. "The theory of business cycles as an inevitable process of business development," Shotwell said, "is in itself a condemnation of the kind of development which produces such recurring catastrophes. Here, then, is a major field for economic study."

NO TUBERCULOSIS CURE IN CHANGE OF CLIMATE

U. S. Public Health Service Abandons Theory—Important Thing Is Good Care.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The medical theory that a change of climate would cure tuberculosis has been abandoned by the United States Public Health Service. Instead, the Health Service believes good medical care is far more important than climatic conditions.

There was a time when change of climate was almost always recommended for tuberculosis. The service says in a statement, "The people believed that certain climates cured tuberculosis. They thought that dry air or mountain air or warm or cold air was better than some other kind of air and that the climate of the arid Southwest or of Florida or California would cure tuberculosis."

"Medical opinion has changed. We no longer believe climate cures tuberculosis. We ask ourselves where treatment can be obtained of the kind required, and within the means of the patient, or child or an aged person is sent far away. A young man or woman may be advised to go away if there is some good reason for it. The most important thing is good medical care, usually in a sanatorium, no matter what the climate is."

EXAMINER FILES TITLE GUARANTY BALANCE SHEET

Inventory Records Its Total Resources and Liabilities as $2,530,250 on Jan. 15.

LAST DECEMBER

Those of Commonwealth
Farm Loan, a Subsidiary $978,356—Firm Quit
Business.

A balance sheet of the Title Guaranty Trust Co., which quit business on Jan. 15 to conserve its assets and protect creditors, has been prepared by Roy D. Miller, examiner in charge of the business for the State Finance Department, showing resources and liabilities at $2,530,250. It was filed at the Recorder's office as part of the inventory.

The last previous statement of the company, as of last Dec. 13, showed a somewhat smaller total and a considerably different distribution of items. The company, with offices in the Arcade Building, discontinued its general banking and land title business several years ago and during a period of liquidation has dealt wholly in farm mortgages. It acted through a subsidiary, the Commonwealth Farm Loan Co. The value of farm lands securing the loans, officers have stated, has depreciated.

Miller's financial statement of the company as of closing day, Jan. 15, shows the following:

Resources—City real estate, $342,173.89; farms owned by company, $1,050,444.35; notes and stocks, $336,035.28; miscellaneous investments, $2; time and demand loans, $101; real estate loans, $430; $95.53; participation loans, $228; miscellaneous notes and accounts (including $1,950.55, a current account), Commonwealth Farm Loan, and $10,682.86 in notes receivable from renters), $67,164.88; cash in banks, $15,232.03; total, $2,530,250.30.

Liabilities—Capital stock, $1,000,000; undivided profit, $102,774.03; bonds (of company), $199,050; mortgages, $783,526; participations, $228,200; bills payable, $212,501; miscellaneous (in four items), $4,372.27.

Examiner Miller also filed a detailed inventory for the Commonwealth Farm Loan Co., with a balance sheet showing resources and liabilities of $978,356.20, as follows:

Resources—Real estate loans, $1,050,444.35; real estate, $449,176.75; stocks and bonds, $2; loans with trustee, $500; notes and accounts, $60,221.13; equipment, $5544.17; expense, $436,576.61; cash in banks, $187,340.24; total, $978,356.20.

Liabilities—Capital stock, $250,000; deposits, $562.29 for interest coupons, $16,286.22; miscellaneous accounts, $12,500; miscellaneous (in three items), $1876.30; McKinley participations, $10,500; Title Guaranty Trust Co. current account, $251,984.35; mortgages on farms, $224,650.

Largest Stock Holders. In the Title Guaranty Trust inventory the examiner reported the numerous holders of the company's 10,000 shares of $100 par value stock. The largest holders shown were: Mark C. Steinberg & Co., brokers, 685 2-5 shares; Edward Wenger, 2002 1/2 South Broadway, 372; Leo S. Rasmussen, 1305 West Ledges, 200; P. Nelson, East Grove, 200; E. J. Nelson, East Grove, 200; Benjamin F. Frick Jr., 219 North Fourth street, 220; C. A. Budd, 176; Iola S. Anderson, care of an investment house representative, 176. The brokerage house of Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co., which is in receivership, was recorded as holding two-fifths of a share.

ARRESTED AFTER CHECK-UP
Oran H. Bridges Pounded by Police After Circuit Attorney Puts System in Effect.

Circuit Attorney Miller's efforts in following up unserved warrants resulted in the arrest of Oran H. Bridges, who was turned over to the St. Louis police today by the Cape Girardeau County authorities. He is charged with a conspiracy against a 19-year-old girl, committed Nov. 23, 1928.

Bridges is 41 years old, and a railroad brakeman. At the time when a warrant was issued against him, in March 7, 1930, his address was given as 1420 Mississippi avenue. The warrant was turned over to the Sheriff's office, which failed to find him.

Recently the Circuit Attorney, as he has done previously, checked up the unserved warrants, finding eight, and requested the police to make arrests in the cases. The police found that Bridges was in Whitewater, Cape Girardeau County, and caused his arrest there. They are looking for others named in warrants, who evaded arrest when first sought.

ARRESTED AFTER CHECK-UP
Oren H. Bridges Found by Police After Circuit Attorney Puts System in Effect.
Circuit Attorney Miller's efforts to follow up on unserved warrants resulted in the arrest of Oren H.
Bridges, who was turned over to the St. Louis police today by the Cape Girardeau County authorities.
He is charged with an offense against a 19-year-old girl, committed Nov. 29, 1928.
Bridges is 41 years old, and a railroad brakeman. At the time when a warrant was issued against him, March 7, 1929, his address was given as 1420 Mississippi avenue. The warrant was turned over to the Sheriff's office, which failed to find him.
Recently the Circuit Attorney, as he has been previously, checked up on unserved warrants, finding eight and requested the police to make arrests in the cases. The police found that Bridges was in Whiteaway, Cape Girardeau County, and caused his arrest there.
They are looking for others, named in warrants, who evaded arrest when first sought.

THREE TIED BY ROBBERS
IN DRUGSTORE HOLDUP
$129,000 RAISED HERE
FOR DROUTH RELIEF
Two Armed Negroes Flee With $70 After Binding Clerk and Two Customers.
Five holdups by robbers using deadly weapons were reported to police today and yesterday.
The Helwig Drug Store, 2200
Chouteau avenue, was robbed of $70 today by two armed Negroes who tied Henry Telke, the clerk, and two customers in a rear room.
Arthur Wagner, 9553 Sadie avenue, St. Louis County, was robbed of $7 by two men who forced their way into the home of Mrs. Alma Roach, 718 South Sixth street, yesterday. Later at Broadway and Washington he saw the men, who were arrested and confessed, police report.
The home of Charles Postar, 3441A North Fourteenth street, was robbed by two men who forced their way into the house, tied Postar and threatened his wife and daughter with pistols. They took $15 and a revolver.
William Becker, 6022 Garesche avenue, reported he was robbed of $4.50 and a watch by two men as he sat in his automobile in front of the home of his companion, Miss Audrey Meyers, 2809 Henrietta street.
Gordon Reeve, 5246 Greer avenue, a driver for the Red Top Taxi cab Co., was robbed of his cab and $2.50 by two armed men on Telegraph road near Lemay Ferry road.
J. F. Kohl, 6300 Northwood avenue, Clayton, was robbed of his automobile by two armed men while placing the machine in a garage in the rear of his home late night. Thirty minutes later two men driving a car answering the description of the stolen machine stopped Francis Doyran in front of his home, 6601 Clayton road.
Instead of holding up his hands Doyran hit one of the men. The men beat him, then drove away without loot.
The Wardrobe Cleaning & Dying Co., 4803 Leduc street, was robbed of $65 today by an armed robber who surprised Miss Dorothy Margulis, 17-year-old daughter of the proprietor, alone in the store.
She screamed and ran out the back door when the robber entered. He took the money from the cash drawer and ran out the front door.
4723 CASES OF MEASLES REPORTED SINCE JAN. 1
Health Commissioner Says 15 Deaths From That Disease Have Occurred; Grip Widespread.
Measles is the only disease in the city which at present approaches
the extent of an epidemic, Health Commissioner Starkloff said today. Since Jan. 1, 4723 cases and 51 deaths from measles have been reported.
Commenting on the extent of so-called "flu" in St. Louis during recent weeks, Dr. Starkloff said there were few cases of true influenza of the dangerous type of which there was an epidemic in 1918.
Grip, tonsillitis, sore throat and bad colds were widespread, Dr.
Starkloff said, with a minimum of cases of true influenza. Three deaths in January were attributed to influenza and five last week which, he said, by no means indicated an epidemic. Pneumonia, which frequently follows true influenza, caused 129 deaths in January, against 50 in January, 1930, and 350 in January, 1929.
350 EXTRA CITY WORKERS
The Department of Streets and Sewers now has 350 extra employes as part of the unemployment relief program.
Seventy-seven of the men have been assigned to clean sewer inlets throughout the city. Another group has been at work on Washington avenue smoothing the composition surface covering the paving blocks. The workers receive an average of $3 a day from the $200,000 fund appropriated for the purpose.
Jaw Broken in Fight.
William Meier, 50 years old, a painter, 4618 Tenth street, suffered a broken jaw today in a fight in front of the Painters' District Council, Grand and Page boulevards. He told police two fellow members of the union attacked him because of some difficulty they had with a relative of his. Police arrested two men.

WOMAN WET DENIES DEFYING GRAND JURY
Mrs. Ford W. Thompson Says
She Doesn't Recall Visit of Subpoena-Server.
Mrs. Ford W. Thompson, 4616 Pershing avenue, state chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, has been making inquiry into the circumstances which caused the Federal grand jury, in its report to Judge Farris Friday, to state that she evaded service of a subpoena to appear before it.
The women's organization recently sent a letter to each member of the Federal grand jury, signed by Mrs. Thompson, urging that the grand jury make inquiry into graft charges against a Federal prohibition agent. The grand jury, in its report, censured the activities of two prohibition agents. It also called Judge Farris' attention to "the question of individuals and organizations addressing communications to members of the grand jury which might have a tendency to influence or intimidate the jury."
It referred to the letter from the women's organization, and said that the signer was subpoenaed, "and the records of the Marshal's office will show that this individual evaded service."
Ford W. Thompson, an attorney, looked up the record Saturday and found that the subpoena addressed to his wife bore the notation "Not found," and that the subpoena had been in the hands of Deputy Marshal Tom Elton.
Elton said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he telephoned to Mrs.
Thompson at her home and asked if she would be at home soon afterward, the time being in the afternoon. He did not give his name or state the nature of his business.
She said she would not be at home.
The next morning at 9 o'clock, Elton said, he went to the house and asked the maid to call Mrs. Thompson, stating that he was from the Department of Justice.
The maid returned, Elton said,
with the statement that Mrs.
Thompson would not see him unless he stated the nature of his business. He declined to do this, but said that a short interview with Mrs. Thompson would suffice.
Mrs. Thompson said today that she did not recall the incident, but that it might have happened as related by the deputy marshal, as many persons call seeking to see her.
"I would have been pleased to

REGISTRATION OF VOTERS
THURSDAY, FEB. 19, FOR PRIMARY AND ELECTION
A SUPPLEMENTARY registration of voters will be held on Thursday, Feb. 19, to give opportunity to qualified voters not now on the poll books to register for the municipal primary of March 13 and election of April 7. The 670 precinct polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 3 p.
m. for the registration.
Those who will reach the age of 21 by the date of the primary or the date of the election may register, to vote both times in the first instances or to vote only in the election in the latter instance. Those who have moved, but have not transferred on the books and those who came to the city 60 days before the registration and the state a year before may register, if otherwise qualified.
appear before the grand jury," she said, "although I had no facts to add to those which were printed in the newspapers. I would have gone before the grand jury on receipt of an invitation, and so would the other officers of our organization. A subpoena would not have been necessary."
Referring to the grand jury's recommendation for a thorough investigation and cleaning up of local prohibition forces, Mrs.
Thompson said, "This recommendation is especially timely in view of the robbery near Alton Saturday night which was committed by men posing as prohibition agents. It is a commentary on law enforcement methods that bandits find a prohibition agent's badge a complete disguise and one which will divert the suspicions of even the most intelligent."
"In the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, the public has become accustomed to the violation of the Bill of Rights, particularly that clause which prohibits search and seizure without warrant. It has become impossible for a citizen to determine whether he is a victim of a holdup or a victim of 'law enforcement.' Our organization has long been opposed to the tactics employed by prohibition agents, and feels sincere gratitude for this first indictment of liquor law enforcement by a Federal grand jury in St. Louis."

WOMAN SCIENTIST ENDS LIFE
AFTER ROW WITH HUSBAND
Young Hungarian, Helen Reiner, Swallows Poison in New York
U. Laboratory.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A young Hungarian woman who came to this country to do research work at the request of New York University, ended her life yesterday.
The body of Dr. Helen Reiner was found in the Littauer Research Laboratory by her husband, Dr.
Leszo Reiner. A beaker of poison was in one of her hands. A note listing unpaid household bills and ending in the words, "This is best for you and for me, too," was on a nearby desk.
The pair had a minor quarrel shortly before the tragedy, he told police, and she rushed from their apartment crying, "I will kill myself." Discounting her threat at first, he said, he later became alarmed and followed her. He was about 30 minutes too late. She was 26 years old.

J. W. FRISTOE AND WIFE
GIVE COLLEGE $25,000 Contribute Third of Fund for Students' Church at Central, Fayette, Mo.
The gift of $25,000 by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fristoe, 18 Washington terrace, to Central College at Fayette, Mo., to help complete its students' church building, was announced yesterday at St. John's Methodist Church, Kingshighway and Washington boulevard.
Former Senator X. P. Wilfley, a member of the board of curators, announced the contribution at the opening of a campaign to raise $75,000 needed to complete the church, now about half built.
Wilfley said he was confident that Methodists of Missouri would soon raise the remaining $50,000, as Central College is the only educational institution of the Southern Methodist Church in the State.
The Rev. Dr. H. H. Huff, recently named president of the college, also spoke. He invited all present to assist in celebrating the school's seventy-fifth anniversary May 24 and 25.

FIVE YOUTHS CAUGHT AFTER FIGHTING POLICE

Held at Alton, St. Louis and Clayton, Four Admit Recent Robberies.

After a running fight with Alton police in which two of their number were wounded and a third was injured in the wreck of a stolen automobile, five young men were held in Alton, St. Louis and St. Louis County, accused of a number of recent robberies.

Four have admitted their guilt and are being questioned about additional crimes. The fifth, held by Sheriff Lill of St. Louis County, has evaded the questions of deputies, refusing to make a statement. The prisoners have identified themselves as: Edward Roth, 19 years old, 5626 Jennings road, Jennings; Arbie Stone, 22 years old, his brothers, Cledus and Raymond, 20 and 18, respectively, all of 5807 Theodore avenue, and Ray Duckett, 19, 5523 Janet avenue, Jennings.

Duckett is held at Clayton, Cledus Stone is under arrest at St. Louis Police Headquarters, his brothers are in the Alton holdover and Roth is wounded in the hip, is under police guard at an Alton hospital.

Two Alton policemen, searching for the men who robbed James Blunk of $50 in his restaurant at 2621 State street, drove up beside a stolen sport roadster parked in front of a pawn shop at 202 State street at 1:20 a. m. yesterday. Three men were in the car and two others were breaking into the shop to steal an automatic pistol on display in the window.

As Patrolman Waller stopped the police car, one of the young men fired at it. Patrolman Nicolet, fired a riot gun into the roadster and a man in the rumble seat stood up to fire back with a shotgun. As he did so, the driver started the roadster and he was thrown out.

The three men on foot fled down an alley followed by Nicolet. Waller drove the police car to the opposite end of the alley, arriving as two of the men ran out, and exchanged shots with them until he had exhausted his ammunition. He then drove to the police station for reinforcements and more cartridges.

Nicolet, in the meantime, had found Roth hiding behind a barrel in the alley and had placed him under arrest. Word of the fight was telephoned to Wood River and officers there gave chase when the roadster flashed through town. Several shots were fired but the roadster pulled away from the Wood River police car, racing in the direction of Nameoki.

The Wood River police followed, however, and after six miles, found the roadster wrecked against a small bridge a short distance outside of Nameoki. Arbie Stone was found in the machine, bruised and dazed, and a water-soaked overcoat which Raymond had abandoned, was found beside the bridge. Raymond was arrested a short time later, walking on the outskirts of Nameoki, his clothing soaked. He denied knowledge of the robbery and fight until Alton police found he had been wounded in the arm, apparently by a pellet from Nicolet's riot gun. When another pellet rolled out of his garments he confessed, police reported.

Roth at the hospital made a full statement, as a result of which Duckett and Cledus Stone were arrested. He told of two other robberies which the group committed Saturday night and said the roadster was one stolen earlier in the evening from Dr. and Mrs. Alexis F. Hartmann, 7433 Teasdale avenue, University City.

Roth also declared the same group held up former Circuit Judge Arthur V. Lashy and Mrs. Lashy, in St. Louis County, early in January, deputy Sheriffs who questioned him reported.

DR. PAUL D. GRADY FUNERAL AT MARSHALL, MO., TOMORROW

Killed in Auto Accident on Way Home From Burial of Uncle, Sam B. Cook.

Funeral services for Dr. Paul D. Grady, a former St. Louisian, who was killed in an automobile accident near Jefferson City, Saturday while returning to his home at Centertown from the funeral of his uncle, Sam B. Cook, former Secretary of State, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at Marshall, Mo. Burial will be at Miami, Mo.

Dr. Grady, who was 38 years old, left St. Louis last November after practicing for about a year. He was a graduate of the University of Missouri and St. Louis University Medical School.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a brother, Lieut. Morris Grady, United States Navy, and a sister, Mrs. Samuel Klastorner of Chicago.

Dead, But Not in Way He Chose. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Peter Hanson planned to drown himself. "I am tired of life," he wrote, and climbed to the railing of a bridge, poised to jump. He straightened suddenly and struck his head on a steel beam. He fell back, unconscious, and died of skull fracture.

TWINS ARE BORN TO WOMAN IN PRISON FOR KILLING CHILD

English Mother Under Life Sentence After Commutation of Death Penalty.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A mother of four children, who was sentenced to be hanged for having murdered the fourth baby, has become the mother of twins in the hospital of Holloway Prison.

Widespread appeals that clemency be granted led John R. her and she attempted desperately to feed the four hungry mouths. She even chopped wood and hawked it through the streets, but finally gave up the struggle, placed the baby in an oven and turned on the gas.

British law takes no cognizance of exceptional circumstances or temporary insanity in murder cases, and she was condemned to hang. A storm of public indignation followed and her sentence was commuted.

Watchman Dies on Duty. John Robb, 45 years old, a watchman at the Merchants' Exchange, was found dead in the building, Third and Pine streets, last night after he failed to make his hourly call. Death is thought to have been due to heart disease.

CHICAGOAN KILLS WIFE AND SELF; HAD LOST WEALTH

Deaf Brother-in-Law Who Had Gone to Home to Prevent Threatened
Tragedy Slept Through It

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Charles F. Shipman, 60 years old, prominent business man, shot and killed his wife, Mercedes, 58, and himself, with a newly purchased rifle early yesterday while Charles Meyerholz, brother of Mrs. Shipman, who had sought to prevent the tragedy, slept in their home, undisturbed by the shots. Meyerholz is deaf.

Shipman, a member of the Live-stock Exchange and a former ad-vertising manager for Union Stock-yards firms, was wealthy until two years ago, when he suffered losses in wheat. Attempts to recoup his fortune failed, Meyerholz said.

Meyerholz began his race to prevent the shooting at Pittsburg last Friday when he received a message from Shipman which read: "Come at once. Minnie (Mrs. Shipman) is dead and I will be dead before you arrive."

Meyerholz, a former professor in the University of Pittsburg, imme-ately telephoned his brothers, Fred and Frank of Wapello, Ia., directing them to meet him in Chi-cago. He also notified the Chi-cago police and hurried here. Ques-tioned by police, Shipman told them the telegram was a hoax de-signed to bring his brother-in-law to Chicago to discuss financial af-fairs, adding that Meyerholz owed him money. When the brothers ar-rived at the Shipman home they pleaded with him not to do any-thing rash, and Meyerholz agreed to advance him $1500.

Shipman, according to Meyer-holz, agreed to forget his troubles, and the two Iowans returned home.

JOBS FOR 252 IN WEEK FOUND BY UNEMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE

Majority of Places Are Temporary But Satisfied Employers Are Sending Repeat Orders.

The employment bureau of the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment at 202 Washington avenue, found jobs for 252 men and women last week. Permanent positions were found for 47, temporary jobs for the city for 175, and temporary private employment for 30. Since it opened Jan. 12 the bureau has filled 191 permanent and 758 temporary jobs.

Miss Miriam Marten, in charge of the bureau, says repeat orders are coming in from employers who have been well satisfied with the type of workers recommended. The superintendent of construction for a large drug company is among those who have hired several workers through the bureau. One of them he made a foreman.

Records of applicants are care-fully checked, Miss Marten says, before they are referred to pros-pective employers. Employers in need of help may communicate with the bureau by calling Cen-tral 0491.

BOOTLEGGER FOUND SLAIN TO BE BURIED BY CHARITY

Efforts to Find Wife and Child of John Marcus in St. Louis Prove Unavailing.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—The body of John Marcus, Cincinnati boot-legger, found slain last Tuesday in the secret cellar of a vacant house near here, will be buried at Hamil-ton, O., by a Jewish charitable or-ganization, according to reports from Cincinnati.

Efforts to find Marcus' wife and their child, who are reported to be living in St. Louis, have been un-successful. The charitable organi-zation then made arrangements for burial, which will take place this week.

Marcus was one of the men found guilty of participation in the Jack Daniel distillery, theft. He served a term in a Federal prison.

EAST SIDE DOG RACING TRACK IN RECEIVERSHIP

A receiver for the Kingshighway Amusement Park, Inc., which oper-ated a greyhound racing track near the east end of the Chain of Rocks bridge in Madison County, was appointed in Circuit Court at Edwardsville today.

D. D. Simpson and William Brady of St. Louis, described as stockholders, asked for the receiv-ership on the grounds that A. H. Edwards of Walton, Ky., president of the company, had permitted control to be taken by others; that Thomas Maggos of Alton, as gen-eral manager, had usurped control and authority, and that there was dissension among the stockholders. J. A. Gliberson of Alton was appointed receiver under $20,000 bond. The racing plant opened last May, operated 80 days and was closed in August by a Circuit Court injunction.

CATSUP MILLIONAIRE DIES

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Jefferson Livingston, millionaire catsup manufacturer and racing enthusi-ast, died of heart disease today in his suite at the Hotel Plaza.

Three members of his family were with him when he died. They are Mrs. Charles Street and Miss Minnie Livingston of Washington and Wade L. Street, a nephew, who lives in Florida. Livingston made a fortune in the catsup business before he retired to devote his time to the turf.

SEVEN BIDS FOR 15 HORSES OF POLICE STABLE RECEIVED

Seven bids were received by the city today for 15 horses of the Mounted Police District which have been replaced by automobiles.

The highest bid was $415, an average of $41 a horse, from W. Brown of the Webster Riding Stables, who said they would be used primarily in teaching children to ride. The lowest offer was $150.

Supply Commissioner Weston, who has taken the bids under ad-vice, pointed out the horses are in good condition and are not being retired because of old age but because they are need no longer by the Police Department.

Quick Relief for Common Coughs,
Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up severe coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief in a hurry.

From any drugist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Then you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germy mucus and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of incipient bronchial coughs and other severe coughs due to colds.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SAYS U. S. TOOK SEAT ON CHICAGO EXCHANGE

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma Assails Farm Board's Use of Government Funds.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, contended in the Senate today the Farm Board has indirectly taken a seat on the Chicago Grain Exchange, "buying and paying for it with Federal money."

The board's activities were criticized in debate on an amendment to the Independent Offices appropriation bill which would have prohibited the use of any of the new $100,000,000 for the Farm Board for dealing in wheat or cotton futures. This amendment was rejected.

The amendment was rejected, 55 to 28, and later the Senate passed the bill and sent it to conference. It carries a total of $1,053,000,000, including $100,000,000 for the Farm Board.

Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, opposed the amendment on the ground that if the board proves to be a failure, "it may be said we have hamstrung the board and that it has failed because Congress did not permit it a free hand."

"The board has already demonstrated its failure," replied Senator Black (Dem.), Alabama, sponsor of the amendment.

"It is supposed to keep up the prices of farm products," he said, "and if there is any farm product that has not gone down, I haven't heard about it. . . . If the only way we can control prices is to permit representatives of the Government to go into the wheat pit and cotton exchange and gamble in competition with expert speculators, then we ought not to make any attempt to control them."

Senator Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, who advocated amendment of the Black proposal so as to prohibit short selling but permit dealing in futures, said "the Government ought not to want to join the long array of gamblers who are taking the fruit of the toil of the farmer."

Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, said the board had been a failure from the beginning and added "let us not give them any excuse for that failure."

Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, made the same argument, saying Chairman Legge held "no hope for success" of the board's operations.

Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, speaking for the amendment, said he "understood the cards have all been set for another speculative corner in the cotton market in the near future."

"Should the Government participate in this? I should say they should not."

He contended the Farm Board has "completely ignored" the purposes of the marketing act.

Attacking the argument that to approve the amendment would "give the Farm Board an excuse for its failure," George (Dem.), Georgia, said "Mr. Hoover will have to have a better alibi when his farm marketing act goes to the scrap heap than that Congress refused to allow the board to continue gambling with public funds."

George declared that if the board stays on the future market it will lose all its funds, as it cannot compete successfully with expert speculators. "If it is going to try to do so," he said, "the Government ought to hire a sure-enough gambler."

LAYING OF PIPE LINE STOPPED PENDING COURT NEGOTIATIONS

Phillips Petroleum Co. at Odds With Land Owners Over County Right-of-Way.

Work on the gasoline pipe line of the Phillips Petroleum Co. from the Texas Panhandle to St. Louis, has been discontinued pending the result of negotiations between attorneys for the company and several St. Louis County land holders who have blocked completion of the final 10 miles of the 1000-mile line by refusing easement terms and dodging condemnation suit summons.

The pipe leading to the terminus at Cahokia already has been laid on the East Side and the St. Louis County line has progressed to a point near the Lemay Ferry road.

Although the line was scheduled to be completed Feb. 1, workmen were called from the job last week when it reached a point where further work was impossible due to an absence of legal authority to traverse the land of some of the obdurate property owners. Some of the property owners want the company to buy their property outright; others want extra damages for the privilege of burying the 8-inch pipe in a 30-foot right-of-way.

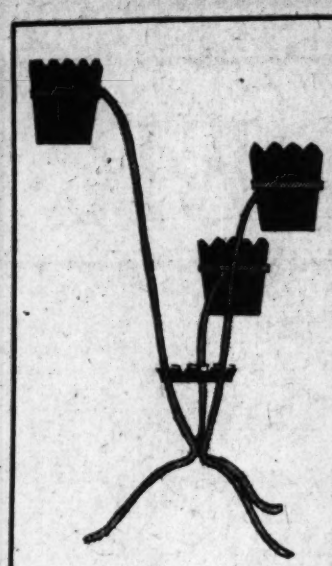

Just before abandoning operations temporarily the crew completed laying the pipe across the berry patch of the Fuchs farm on Ambros road south of Matthee.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—
most women can have. Dr. F. M.
Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr.
Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them
by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 50c

a young woman reported in the room with the jeweler yesterday.
Hotel attaches said Guber registered at the hotel alone Saturday night. He left a call for 4 p. m.
The body was discovered after telephone calls to the room met with no response. A bell boy said the woman was in the room when he carried a breakfast tray there at the order of the guest.

HERE TO INVESTIGATE FEDERAL DRY AGENTS

John B. Madden, Assistant Administrator of District 9, Arrives in City.

John B. Madden, assistant Federal prohibition administrator for District 9, comprising Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, arrived in St. Louis today to investigate the personnel and conduct of the local enforcement group.

The Federal grand jury, in its report to Judge Paris Friday, expressed its belief that the enforcement officers here are making too many small raids and are not making sufficient efforts to get at the source of supply of illicit liquor.

George H. Wark, administrator for District Nine, sent Madden to make a thorough investigation, and Madden expects to spend a week or more in the city. He will interview Federal officials and others who can give him information as to the activities of the enforcement group here.

James Dillon, deputy administrator, is in charge of the local group of officers.

Before noon Madden was considering an incident involving Agent Merritt D. Padfield.

Last October a saloon at the northwest corner of Olive street and Walton avenue was raided by search warrant based on Padfield's affidavit that, from the door, he had seen liquor served. United States Commissioner Burke dismissed possession charges against Ray Robertson, found in charge of the place, when attorneys at preliminary hearing produced photographs which convinced him Padfield could not have seen the serving of drinks from the position he described.

A second case against Robertson came up today for preliminary hearing. For the search warrant in this case, Padfield last December swore he looked through windows and saw drinks served. Commissioner Burke dismissed charges upon motion of Assistant District Attorney Hapke. In charge of liquor and narcotic cases, when the same photographs were produced to show that the windows were more than eight feet from the ground.

Padfield was not present. He was transferred to Kansas City by Administrator Wark simultaneously with the transfer of Agent Carol Byrd to Little Rock. The grand jury in its report disclosed that it had held their testimony so lightly
as to request District Attorney Breuer not to allow them to appear before it and declared it "an injustice to any community to transfer these two men to work in the community."

LEADER OF ROBBER GANG KILLED TRYING TO ESCAPE

Indiana Farmer Shot as He Runs
From House; Wife and Two Men Surrender.

By the Associated Press.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 9.—
Bert Tosser, 32 years old, thought by police to have been leader of a gang which has robbed numerous business places in Illinois and Indiana towns, was shot to death by a Terre Haute detective as he attempted to escape arrest at his farm here several miles west of here, yesterday.

Tosser, his wife and two men companions had been sought since discovery of a quantity of stolen merchandise in his home Friday.
When officers surrounded the place yesterday, Mrs. Tosser and the two men, Clell Ramsey, 42, and Hughey Peel, 33, obeyed commands to leave the house with their hands up.
Tosser, however, leaped from a rear window and ran 150 feet before shots from a sub-machine gun brought him down. He died on the way to a Terre Haute hospital.

ANDREW DIESEL JR. RELEASED

A murder charge against Andrew Diesel Jr., 25 years old, of Millstadt, Ill., was dismissed with leave to reinstate in Circuit Court at Belleville today when Assistant State's Attorney Curt Lindauer told the court that the State's most important witness, a private detective, could not be found. The detective was hired by the State in December, 1929, after the body of John Schneberger, a neighbor of Diesel, was found in a field near Millstadt. On evidence obtained by the detective, Diesel was arrested and held in jail at Belleville until today.

HOW MANY COLDS MAKE AN EPIDEMIC?

THIS is dangerous weather. Raw, chill dampness breeds sickness. Don't neglect your children's colds!

Keep them warm and dry—make them drink lots of water—and at the first sign of a cold use MENTHOLATUM.

Rub it on their chests. Cover it with flannel. For though Mentholum does not stain, the extra warmth speeds up its action.

Then put just a bit of Mentholum in each nostril to clear their heads quickly. It breaks up congestion... soothes sore nose and throat surfaces.

Stop at the nearest drug store—and buy Mentholum now. 90¢ in tube or jar—a reliable cold remedy for over 36 years. (90¢ for large-sized jar.)

BELLBOY FATALLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Other Deaths Over Week-End Include Two on East Side and Two Negroes.

Sterling Bailey, a bellboy, 2362 Klemm avenue, died at St. Luke's Hospital today of injuries suffered early yesterday when an automobile he was driving collided with another car at Hamilton and Clemens avenues. Bailey suffered internal injuries, a broken shoulder and concussion of the brain. Elmore A. Haney, 628 Delmar boulevard, driver of the other machine, suffered internal injuries. He is at St. Luke's Hospital.

Mrs. Gertrude Landon, 67, a Negro, 818 Benton street, died at City Hospital No. 2 today of injuries suffered Feb. 1 when struck at Theresa and Chouteau avenues by a machine, the driver of which failed to stop. Police obtained the license number of the car, and a short time later arrested at Grand and Lawton boulevards a man, who said he was James E. Shelly, 2808 Rutger street. The man was sitting in a parked machine, which had a damaged fender and headlight. A woman's hat, identified as Mrs. Landon's, was lodged on the fender. City Hospital physicians pronounced the man intoxicated. He told police he did not remember having struck anyone. Tobias Johnson, 30, Negro, 3180 Lawton boulevard, died at City Hospital No. 2 yesterday of injuries suffered Jan. 1 when struck by an automobile at Olive street and Cardinal avenue. He suffered internal injuries and fractures of both thighs. Raymond Caldwell, Negro, 2127 Eugenia street, was the driver.

Man and Woman Killed on Collinsville Road.

A woman and a man were killed and two other men were injured when an automobile in which they were riding struck a telephone pole on Collinsville road, near Fairmount City, early yesterday. All were from East St. Louis.

The dead are: Mrs. Loretta Biggs, 27 years old, 831 St. Clair avenue; and Walter H. Evans, 29, a barber, 720 St. Clair avenue. George McClary, 723 North Eighth street, the driver, was cut and bruised. Joseph A. Connelly, 730 North Fifty-third street, suffered fractures of the leg and collar bone.

McClary told police he was driving toward East St. Louis at 1:30 a. m. and was crowded off the road by another machine coming in the opposite direction. The car was demolished.

Verdict of Accident in Death of Woman

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Mrs. Christina Stoddard, 64, 6024 Lucille avenue, who died at City Hospital Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night when struck by an automobile at Kingshighway Northwest and Lucille avenue. A witness testified that Eric Kent, 18, Jennings, the driver, stopped his car, then started up again and the machine skidded on the wet pavement, striking Mrs. Stoddard.

50 PCT. BENHAM "TOO BUSY" TO MAKE HIS USUAL PAYOFF

Special to the Post-Dispatch. BELVIDERE, Ill., Feb. 9.—Explaining he was "too busy" negotiating a "big deal" to conduct his usual pay-off, A. W. Benham, former shipping clerk, who has been paying 10 to 50 per cent interest on investments for more than a year, failed today to meet notes on demand.

Benham insisted, however, his affairs were in good shape and that his "big deal," the nature of which he would not disclose, would be completed Wednesday, when he would have time to "pay off, as usual."

Three holders of notes, totalling $1200, applied for their principal yesterday, which was not Benham's usual pay day, as he seldom transacts business on Sunday, and were told to "wait in the consummation of his latest deal Wednesday." A. J. Strom, Prosecuting Attorney of Boone County, began submission of information today before the grand jury, which opened this session this morning, concerning Benham's activities. He said, however, no investor had complained to him.

HEAVY TO EXCESSIVE RAINS BENEFIT SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Many sections of Southern Illinois, which have been faced during the last few months with alarming drought situations, have been benefited by heavy to excessive rains.

Communities farther north in Illinois remained without rain. Jacksonville has prohibited water for bathing purposes on pain of having the supplies cut off.

Edinburg in Christian County, Fillmore in Montgomery County, and Carrier Mills in Saline County reported themselves without water today. Tank trucks have been used at Edinburg to transport a supply from Taylorville.

Marion, Carbondale, West Frankfort, Benton and Herrin, all of which have experienced alarming water shortages, enjoyed steady downpours. Small streams around Metropolis, where the rainfall reached 1.7 inches, were bankfull for the first time in a year.

Heavy rains fell yesterday in Arkansas, Fort Smith in the west and Jonesboro in the east reporting three-inch precipitations. Little Rock had two inches. Oklahoma and Texas had soaking rains.

STUDEBAKER SIX

world's lowest priced car with free wheeling

THIS is the one motor car economy announcement of real consequence this year.

Free Wheeling, the greatest automobile advancement since the electric starter, is now yours in a brilliant new Studebaker Six priced from $795 upward.

It is the same Free Wheeling with positive gear control used in the three great Studebaker Eights and adopted, intact and unmodified, by the Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln.

It brings you a 12% to 20% economy of gasoline and oil and substantial savings in chassis wear, tires and repairs.

Studebaker has done many things to merit the public's confidence during its 79-year career. But nothing in Studebaker history matches this move. Nothing in the motor car field compares with this opportunity to get Free Wheeling in a car of this low price.

Come, see and drive this brilliant new Studebaker Six. Experience the marvel of Free Wheeling. Ride on momentum instead of gasoline. Go five speedometer miles for every four miles of engine effort. Shift from high to second and back to high without touching the clutch. See why Free Wheeling is both the greatest thrill and the greatest economy in motoring—why highway commissioners and safety directors throughout the country have driven Free Wheeling Studebakers and then voiced approval of Free Wheeling with positive gear control as a new measure of safety to driver and public.

Choose no comparably priced car until you drive this Free Wheeling Studebaker Six. Arrange today to have a Studebaker dealer take you Free Wheeling.

OVEN-COOKED MEALS ARE FAVORED BY THE HOME COOK

They require little attention while cooking and are economical.

Oven meals are economists of time and fuel. The whole meal is cooked with the same amount of heat that is required to bake one dish. The meal requires no watching during the cooking period. Oven-cooked vegetables have several advantages—will not boil dry, retain better color and flavor.

When arranging foods in the oven, the lower rack should be placed so that there will be a free circulation of air under the utensils.

The utensils should not touch each other or sides of the oven, as this will interfere with the evenness of heat distribution.

Try out arrangement of utensils before putting the food into the oven.

Food which demands special attention, such as stirring or turning during the cooking process, does not belong in the oven meal.

AN APPETIZING MEAL FROM LEFTOVERS

Possibilities Lie in a Miscellaneous Assortment of Food Remnants.

The question of leftovers does not loom so large on the horizon of the small family as it used to for modern methods of merchandising food have considered, the family of two or three far more carefully than was formerly the case. Nowadays stores offer chops in paper packages for two servings, a steak that will be just large enough for two, vegetables and fruits in cans that are just about large enough for two good servings, sugar, flour and other dry groceries in small amounts if housewives have no room to store larger ones.

Yet there are many occasions in households when in spite of careful planning there is an accumulation of leftovers that should be used up.

For purposes of illustration suppose the ice box shows a small piece of steak about three inches long and two inches wide, two cold potatoes, a medium cooked egg that was left from breakfast, about a tablespoon of peas from last night's dinner and a bowl of stewed black figs. Too much of everything to throw away. The bare bones of a roast chicken from Sunday also graced the ice box shelves.

From these leftovers the following menu was evolved:

Chicken soup with rice.

Ragout of steak on toast.

Hashed brown potatoes.

Asparagus salad with egg dressing.

Egg custard.

Coffee, tea, milk.

The asparagus was not a leftover, but came from a can on the emergency shelf. Marketing for the day therefore consisted of a head of lettuce, a bunch of carrots (which was large enough to use for the next night also) and a

POUND OF WHITE ONIONS. EGGS, MILK AND OTHER STAPLES WERE ON HAND.

The chicken bones, broken up, were cooked with an onion, one-half teaspoon celery salt and one quart of water for one and one-half hours and produced a delicious chicken stock that was strained. To this was added one and one-half tablespoons of rice and the soup allowed to cook slowly for 20 minutes before serving. Two cups of strong, clear soup as a result.

For the ragout, the steak was cut in dice; one tablespoon butter melted in a saucepan and to it was added a large onion sliced, a carrot cut in fine dice, the spoonful of peas and the meat. This was covered and cooked slowly for five minutes, then two tablespoons flour were sprinkled in and one cup water added. The mixture was then covered and left to cook slowly for 25 minutes. Result two servings of a savory, brown ragout that, served on toast, made the main part of the main course.

The leftover breakfast egg, mashed fine was added to three tablespoons of mayonnaise together with a tablespoonful of chili sauce and made the dressing that went over the chilled asparagus tips and that served as a combination vegetable and salad course.

The cold potatoes, finely chopped were put in a frying pan in which one tablespoon of butter had been melted. One-fourth cup milk followed the potatoes, and the main part of the main course.

A cupful of boiled custard poured over the stewed figs made the dessert and finished off a meal that defied detection as having been built up of scrappy leftovers.

Salmon Sundae.

Flake one can of salmon, season. Add one cup sauce, mayonnaise, taste. Stuff mixture in six green peppers from which seeds have been removed. Cover with grated apple. Sprinkle paprika on top.

A Vegetable Appetizer.

As an appetizer, try very small hothouse tomatoes, well chilled and stuffed with a spoonful of chilled caviar. These must be very small tomatoes.

SERVE CAULIFLOWER WITH STRING BEAN DRESSING

This Combination Offers a Change in Serving These Vegetables.

Cooking cauliflower and string beans together is something different from the general run of vegetable combinations.

The cauliflower is boiled and served with a sauce made of the string beans.

Wash clean and separate cauliflower into flowerets. Drop into just enough boiling water to cover and cook uncovered 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender.

String Bean Sauce.

Use one quart beans, five tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Wash, string and cut beans in one-inch pieces. Blanch in boiling water for one minute, then dip into cold water. Drain and drop into just enough boiling water to cover and cook uncovered 20 to 30 minutes. Drain, reserving water for gravy or soup. Add butter, salt and paprika to beans and toss until thoroughly mixed. Pour over cauliflower.

English Apple Pie.

Butter a shallow dish. Select one that is deeper than a pie plate. Fill the dish with sliced apples; sprinkle with a cup of sugar, half a teaspoon of salt and a little nutmeg. Put over it two teaspoons of butter in bits; add three tablespoons of cold water. Cover with good paste and bake for 40 minutes. Serve with cream.

Ways With Spinach.

Chopped raw with cabbage, green pepper and a tart French dressing it makes an unusual salad. Molded in individual ramekins and hollowed out in the middle and filled with hot minced ham, it makes a pleasing entrée. Strained and rubbed through a sieve and added to a thin cream sauce, it makes a delicious soup.

Fruit Salad Dressing.

Mayonnaise to which whipped cream has been added, gives just the right touch to a fruit combination, while the addition of horseradish to mayonnaise makes a sophisticated mixture for use on meat salads.

LIVER AND POTATO PIE

Cut one pound of beef liver into slices. Roll in two tablespoonfuls of well-seasoned flour.

Saute two slices of bacon in a frying pan until crisp, remove, and saute the liver in the bacon fat until nice and brown.

Arrange the liver in the casserole, add two cups of boiling water to the fat in the frying pan, and stir until well blended. Cut the crisp bacon into small pieces and lay over the liver. Put five medium pared potatoes and one small onion through a food chopper, add one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoonful of flour, spread over the liver, pouring the gravy over all.

Cover and bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees Fahrenheit until the liver and potato are thoroughly cooked.

Macaroni Chicken.

Line small buttered custard cups with boiled macaroni. Fill the centers with creamed chicken or creamed vegetables or any other desired creamed combination. Set the molds in a pan half filled with hot water. Cover with buttered paper and bake for one-half hour in a moderate oven. Serve with lobster and Hollandaise sauce.

Chicken Livers and Bacon.

Clean the livers and cut each one in quarters. Wrap a thin slice of bacon around each piece of chicken liver and if necessary, fasten with a wooden skewer or toothpick. Arrange on a broiler rack and broil until the bacon is crisp, turning once. Or, if preferred, saute in a hot frying pan, turning frequently till the bacon is crisp.

SAVORY BAKED VEAL ROLL

Equally Tasty Served as a Main Dish or a Side Dish.

Veal roll may be served hot with gravy or else sliced cold for luncheon or Sunday night supper.

Take a two and one-half pound forequarter of veal, one-half pound beef chuck, one cup onion, one-half cup green pepper, one and one-fourth teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, one-fourth teaspoon marjoram, one teaspoon sage leaves, four tablespoons drippings and three-fourths cup bread crumbs. Grind veal and beef together; add finely chopped onion and green pepper with seasonings and drip-plings. Mix thoroughly; shape into short, thick roll. Roll in bread crumbs; place in roaster uncovered and bake one and one-quarter hours in moderate oven (325 degrees).

Remove meat from pan and add juice to sauce.

Avoid Getting in a Rut.

Try not to get in a rut by always serving the same vegetables with certain meats. For instance, peas have almost become traditional with lamb chops or roast lamb. String beans, squash, either steamed or boiled or baked, creamed or baked onions, cauliflower, broccoli or Brussels sprouts, browned parsnips and mashed turnips are equally good.

SPONGE CAKE DESSERT

Glazed Apples and Preserved Ginger Feature the Dish.

Core and pare half a dozen apples. Make a syrup with a cup of sugar and a cup of water. Cook the apples in the syrup, cook until tender, turn while cooking, but do not cover, as the steam will cause them to break in pieces.

Have circular pieces of stale sponge cake ready. Take the apples up onto the cake, sprinkle apples and cake generously with granulated sugar and set in the oven to glaze.

Add half a cup of syrup from preserved ginger to the apple syrup and let boil up once. When the apples are a delicate brown, pour the syrup onto the serving dish, set the apples into the syrup and fill the open spaces with pieces of preserved ginger. Serve hot with cream.

MANY NICE DISHES
MADE WITH SQUASH

Adaptable for a One-Plate Meal, Pie or the Vegetable Course of a Dinner.

While squash is considered one of the less popular vegetables, this condition exists, mainly, because the home cook does not specialize in preparing this vegetable. Stuffed Hubbard squash is a tan-ty dish. It is particularly adaptable to serve with roast meats and fowl.

Stuffed Hubbard Squash.
For one-half a Hubbard squash use one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-third cup butter, one cup celery, one cup onion, one-half cup green pepper, one-fourth cup parsley, one small cauliflower, one-half cup cheese and two cups bread crumbs.

Cut squash lengthwise; scrub out side and remove seeds and pulp from inside. Place squash in a moderate oven or in a steamer and cook one hour, or until tender. Scoop squash from shell; mash, season with salt and pepper and add one-half the butter; then refill squash shell. Cook chopped vegetables in just enough water to cover for 10 minutes. Separate cauliflower buds and cook in boiling water till tender.

Fill center of squash with mixed celery, onion, green pepper and parsley, which have been well seasoned. Cover with buttered cauliflower buds and cook in boiling water till tender.

Squash Pie.
Two cups squash, three-fourths cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon mace, one egg, one-eighth teaspoon cloves and two cups milk. Rub steamed or baked squash through a sieve and add to it sifted dry ingredients, well-beaten egg and scalded milk. Line pie pan with crust and pour in filling. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees) one hour and 15 minutes.

Steamed Squash.
Wash, dry and dice squash without peeling. Add water and steam in a covered kettle or waterless cooker until tender, about 20 minutes after steaming point is reached. Remove from kettle and season with butter and salt.

LIGHT FLAKY BISCUITS

ARE ALWAYS IN DEMAND

Equally Delicious for Breakfast, Luncheon, Dinner or Supper.

The vogue for biscuits brings to mind there are two general types of this delectable quick bread. In one kind, soda is the leavening agent. Baking powder is used in the other type. Directions for making both kinds follow:

Baking Powder Biscuit.

Two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons liquid fat, seven-eighths cup milk or water.

Sift together dry ingredients. Add liquid fat, mixed with milk or water and mix into a soft dough. Toss on slightly floured board, pat, roll out and cut with biscuit cutter.

Southern Soda Biscuit.

Two cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon lard, one cup buttermilk and one teaspoon soda.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening and add buttermilk. Toss on floured board, pat and roll out. Cut with biscuit cutter and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) 15 minutes.

Deep Fat Frying.

A frying basket is a big convenience in frying foods in deep fat as it keeps the foods, especially potatoes, small croquettes, shrimp, oysters, etc., together and allows the cook to remove them all from the fat at once. These baskets are usually made of fine meshed wire and are so constructed that they may be lowered into the fat. A strainer may sometimes be used if it is necessary to improvise a frying basket.

NO NEED TO COOK PRUNES

Not if they're SUNSWEETS.

These plump, tender, sugar-ripe, top-quality California Prunes are a treat just as they come from the car.

If you prefer them softer, put them into a dish or pan, cover with cold water, allow to remain a few minutes, then drain.

Or steam them till they're fat and juicy.

Be sure they're SUNSWEETS.

To be eaten this way, prunes should be of the very finest. Remember, there is as much difference in prunes as in any fruit or food you buy.

Gently laxative; full of digestible fruit sugar, mineral salts, and valuable vitamins; SUNSWEETS are not only good but good for everybody.

Sealed in 1- and 2-lb. cartons to keep them clean and fresh.

Keep your family on the road to good health by serving SUNSWEET Prunes every day.

$4,000,000 RIVERSIDE CHURCH OF DR. FOSDICK IS DEDICATED

2400 Persons Attend Service With Hundred More Standing Outside.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The non-sectarian Riverside Church pulpit of the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick and place of worship of John D. Rockefeller Jr., and his family, was dedicated yesterday with a warning by its pastor that civilization cannot be sustained without the message which the church of God is trying to convey.

A congregation of 2400 persons filled the auditorium and galleries of the $4,000,000 Gothic edifice high above the Hudson beside Grant's tomb, and hundred more heard the services by amplifiers in other rooms of the church or stood outside on snowy Riverside drive.
Every Sunday since the church was opened for worship Oct. 3 its auditorium, thrice as ample as the one in the Park avenue church from which the congregation moved, has been inadequate to hold the crowds.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS INSTITUTE

Several Counties Represented at Olney (Ill.) Meeting.

OLNEY, Ill., Feb. 9.—Miss Gladys Slamp, field secretary of the national organization of the Camp Fire Girls of America, conducted a Guardians' training institute in the courthouse here Friday and Saturday. Girls from several counties attended these meetings.
Friday evening a dinner was served, followed by an address by Miss Slamp, and a musical program. The high school string quartet, composed of Eloise Roberts, Mildred Coen, Geneva Paddock and Mary E. Wilson, gave several selections, accompanied by Arda Herrin. The program for Saturday included registration, general discussion and presentation of the Shutanka honor.

COMMUNITY CENTER OPEN TO ALL JEWS ADVOCATED

Phillip L. Seman Urges St. Louis Federation to Lift Financial Restrictions.

Establishment of a Jewish community center in St. Louis, open to all regardless of financial status, was recommended by Phillip L.
Seman, general director of the Jewish People's Institute of Chicago, at the annual meeting of the Jewish Federation of St. Louis at Hotel Chase yesterday.

Seman said it was unnecessary to build a community center separate from the Y. M. H. A. and remarked that it is undemocratic to segregate groups according to whether they can or cannot pay for benefits received.

Social work tending to build character is replacing the present type of charitable enterprise, Seman said, largely because of the development of the adult education movement.

Such educational advantages constitute a background which maintains the morale of the people, he said, while recreational and cultural facilities are essential now for the unemployed.

MAKES 100 MILES AN HOUR
IN OIL BURNING AUTOMOBILE
Inventor of Diesel Motored Machine Plans to Enter It in Indianapolis Races.

By the Associated Press.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.

—Clessie L. V. Cummins, Columbus, Ind., inventor, achieved more than 100 miles an hour in his Diesel motored, oil burning automobile on the beach here.

The official average of the two way runs was 100.755 miles an hour. Cummins plans to enter the machine in the Indianapolis Memorial day races. Cummins said he drove the machine here from Indianapolis at a cost of $2.10 for fuel, a distance of 981 miles. He used 35 gallons of fuel oil.

Second Son of Bernadotte.

By the Associated Press.

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y., Feb. 9.

Count Folke Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustave of Sweden, and Countess Bernadotte, daughter of H. Edward Manville, are the parents of a second son, born yesterday. The baby will be named Count Folke of Wisborg, his father's title. The first child, Gustave Edward, was born Jan. 31, 1930, in Sweden. The Count and Countess, the former Estelle Manville, were married in December, 1923. Her father is chairman of the board of Johns-Manville Co.

SAYS U. S. BUREAU GRAFT IS KILLING OFF THE INDIANS

Robert Gessner of New York U. Faculty in Book Accuses 'Reform' Appointees of Hoover.

DECLARES REDMEN ARE ROBBED, STARVED

forced to Pay $30,000,000 Unconstitutionally, Fed Horsemen From Dumps, He Charges.

Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch, NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Charges of corruption and inefficiency in the Indian Bureau under the reform appointees of President Hoover, with starvation and an ever-increasing death rate among the Indians as a result, are made by Robert Gessner of New York University faculty, in his book, "Massacre," published today after three years' investigation of conditions in the Indian reservations.

The record of Charles J. Rhoads, appointed in 1923 as Commissioner of Indian Affairs after the forced resignation of Commissioner Burke and Assistant Commissioner E. B. Merritt, "is actually below that of Burke," Gessner charges.

The book says that "while approximately $30,000,000 of reimbursable charges have been heaped on the back of Indians unconstitutionally for bridge and road building for the benefit of tourists and irrigation schemes designed for white men, Indians in the Northwest have been forced to subsist on the most meager rations from city dumps. The average Indian income, says the book, even among the wealthy, oil-owning Osages, has decreased from $12,200 to $1540 a year, and the Indian death rate is three times as great as the rate for the general population."

"At the Indian Bureau's present speed of mismanagement, the Indians of America will be penniless by 1951," Gessner writes. He estimates that the Indian estate is shrinking at a rate of four per cent a year.

Citing instances of brutality in Indian schools, illegal leases of Indian lands, peonage and broken Governmental pledges taken from the records of the Indian Bureau, official and official investigating agencies and testimony before the Frazier Committee of the Senate, Gessner asserts:

"The United States Government has done far more for Negroes in 60 years, for Filipinos and Hawaiians in 30 years, than has been done for Indians in a century and a half."

"When President Hoover appointed Charles J. Rhoads and J. Henry Scattergood, Philadelphia Quakers and humanitarians, Commissioners of Indian Affairs," Gessner continues, "it looked like the coming of day for the Indians. The past year and a half, however, has proved these appointments to be a false dawn. The reform administrators have not reformed the Indian Bureau. Instead of attacking the deeper administrative problems, instead of attempting to relieve and emancipate the Indian, they became puppets under the control of the bureau chiefs who are holdovers from the infamous regime of Albert Fall."

Reorganization Plan Shelved. "Rhoads and Scattergood have completely discarded Secretary Wilbur's plan for reorganizing the Bureau's irrigation and reclamation service; in their contrariness to the reports of engineers and other experts they have plunged into a renewed extravagant and to some extent unproductive spending."

The Indian Bureau, Gessner charges, has maintained a propaganda service "as a smoke screen to cover its own incompetency" with the "wealthy" Osage Indians and the statement of former Commissioner E. B. Merritt that the per capita wealth of the Indian is $4790 as its most effective argument.

Sixteen tribes, he points out, have per capita incomes of less than $100 and of the 45 jurisdictions under the control of the Indian Bureau, only two are found by the scientific investigators of the Institute (for Government research) to have per capita incomes of $499.

"It must be remembered," he goes on, "that not one dollar of a restricted Osage was or can be spent except under the supervision of the Bureau. An Osage could not buy a $7500 limousine or build a $50,000 mansion unless the Indian Bureau superintendent and his subordinates sanctioned the expenditures. A garage proprietor could not receive a $12,000 check for automobile repairs unless his bill was okayed by an Indian Bureau official."

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—Hundreds of thousands of Russian women, who during 1930 played an increased role in the socialization of Soviet Russia, are to be enlisted as workers in a further effort to solve the national labor shortage.

With thousands of jobs open and no takers, the Government is completing plans to fill vacancies with women, providing nursery facilities for children who will be brought up under the care of the state.

"The problem of attracting hundreds of thousands of women to industrial labor is acute. Consequently in order to solve this problem as painlessly as possible the Government, together with the trade unions and other social organizations, has elaborated a number of measures directed toward freeing women from domestic work and securing their children with necessary care while the mothers are at work."

Measures listed include opening of a great number of new nurseries, extension of the network of social dining rooms, construction of laundries and other enterprises which will free women from domestic work.

An estimate is made of 170,000 children to be cared for during 1931 as against 70,000 in 1930. The budget for the purpose has been increased from about $13,500,000 last year to $41,000,000 this year.

An official report says that 200,000 women are members of trade unions and that "conditions make them economically equal to men." Under the Government's plan 15,000 women this year will have opportunity to raise their qualifications and 370,000 girls will be trained in factory apprentice schools.

SPANISH CONSTITUTION AGAIN
IN FORCE; ELECTIONS ORDEREDKing Lifts Restrictions and Purposes to Open New Parliament on March 25.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Feb. 9.—A decree signed by King Alfonso published in the Official Gaceta sets March 1 for balloting for Deputies for the new Cortes, and March is for balloting for Senators. The King will open the new Parliament March 25.

The decree also restores the old constitutional guarantees and lifts the press censorship, reestablishing among other things freedom of speech and writing, freedom of lawfully assembly and freedom of political and religious organization.

Three reasons for calling elections are listed in the royal decree—first, because Spain needs re-establishment of Parliamentary rule; second, because of "grave problems" among the labor reform, which are facing the country; and third, because of necessity to modify some of the articles of the Constitution of 1931.

Thus Spain looks forward to a new constitutional life for the first time since the advent of the Primo de Rivera dictatorship in 1923.

INDICATION OF INCREASED
BUILDING TRADES ACTIVITYThree of 13 F. W. Dodge Territories
Show Gains Over Previous Month and 1930.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Promising indications of renewed activity for the building and allied industries were furnished by results last month, the F. W. Dodge Corporation showed in its compilation of January building contracts.

Three of the 13 Dodge territories showed gains over both January of last year and over December. Three additional territories showed gains over December and one additional district showed a gain over January, 1930. Building activity in Southern Michigan, Western Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Louisiana, Southwestern Arkansas, and Southeastern Mississippi showed an increase last month over both January and December 1930.

In the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains total contracts awarded for new buildings last month aggregated $227,956,400, against $223,975,200 for January, 1930.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—There were 444,000 unemployed in Berlin Jan. 31, according to figures made public by the Provincial Labor Bureau at Brandenburg. This was nearly one in every nine inhabitants in the metropolitan district, and the number of unemployed is known to have increased steadily.

would be appointed to disburse moneys unless their commissions were satisfactorily split. Nor can the Indian Bureau be absolved of responsibility when Indians have been extravagantly insured, their insurance decreased to whites and then found a few months later with bullets in their heads."

Rhoads Says He Never Heard of Charges.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Charles J. Rhoads, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, said today that he had never heard of the Gessner book nor seen a newspaper account of its charges. He refused to look at the newspaper, saying that he had much more important work to do than to answer charges in newspapers. He added that he might read the articles later at his leisure.

"Just say," he told newspaper men, "that I have not seen the book or the charges and that I have no comment to make."

Willingdon.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Earl of Bessborough was appointed Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada today succeeding Lord Willingdon, who is to be Viceroy of India.

Vere Brabazon Ponsonby, ninth Earl of Bessborough, Baron Ponsonby and Viscount Duncannon, is deputy chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., chairman of Sao Paulo Railway Ltd., and was a member of the House of Commons for Dover from 1913 to 1920. He was educated at Cambridge and was admitted to the bar in 1903. During the war he served in Gallipoli in 1915 and was on the General Staff in France from 1916 to 1918. He is a chevalier of the Legion of Honor and holds the orders of St. Ann, Russia; Leopold II, Belgium; SS. Maurice and Lazarus, Italy, and the Redeemer, Greece.

He is 51 years old. In 1912 he married Roberte, only daughter of Baron de Neufville of Paris. They have two children, Frederick Edward, Viscount Duncannon, 17 years old, and Moyra Madeleine, 12. A third child, born in 1915, died when 10 years old.

LATIN AMERICAN COMMENT
ON SPEECH BY STIMSONBuenos Aires Paper Says Monroe Doctrine Can't Be Adjusted to 1931 Deeds

By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 9.—Cautious but respectful comment that if the Monroe Doctrine is excellent in theory it is functioning badly in practice, was made in the Latin American press today in editorials discussing Secretary of State Stimson's address in New York Friday night on United States Foreign Policy.

La Nacion, Buenos Aires daily, said that no one would ever doubt that the act of the illustrious President, James Monroe, was directed against the Holy Alliance and in protection of the young Latin American republics.

But, the paper said, "the 1923 formula cannot be adjusted to 1931 needs. Politics, which then were restricted to Europe, now are worldwide. One by one the thrones against which Monroe directed his anathema have fallen and none of them is surviving today. How, then, can such a weapon still be used without injuring the civilizations from which we have inherited so richly?"

SOVIET WILL TAKE PART IN STUDY OF BRIAND'S PLANLitvinoff Calls Assurance of Peace
First Step Toward Economic Solidarity.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—The Soviet Government today accepted an invitation to participate in the deliberations of the commission studying Briand's project for a European Federation. The commission invited Russia to take part in economic phases of the discussion although she is not a member of the League of Nations within the framework of which the commission is operating.

Litvinoff, in a note accompanying the acceptance, declared peace must be assured in Europe before solidarity could be established in the economic or other fields.

He said: "Even Bourgeois economists admit the indisputable connection between the political uneasiness existing at the present time and increasing throughout the world, and the steady increase in armaments in some countries, absorbing from 40 to 50 per cent of their budgets, on one hand and economic crisis within these states on the other."

'GIGANTIC' GERMAN ORDER REPORTED MADE BY SOVIETSteam Turbines, Machinery and Dredges Contracted for, Says
Communist Paper.Copyright, 1931, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—A "gigantic" order given by the Soviet Government to German industrial concerns in the first two weeks of the current year is reported in Rote Fahne, Communist organ published in Berlin. According to this newspaper the Russian Trade Commissioners in Berlin report the placing of the following order:

Steam turbines to the value of 1,125,000 marks ($267,975) for a long distance heating plant at Maschinstroy in the Urals, from a Silesian firm; machinery for the same place, from West German concern for 1,500,000 marks ($357,360); 1,500,000 marks worth of dredges, from a North German firm.

In addition, according to Rote Fahne, orders were placed with various firms for mechanical products amounting to 3,000,000 marks ($714,600), sheet iron for 2,000,000 ($476,000) and chemicals for 750,000 marks ($178,650).

Vossische Zeitung reports the Soviet Trade Commissioners placed in Germany in 1930 orders aggregating 566,000,000 marks ($134,821,200), an increase of 28 per cent over the total orders of the preceding year.

NEW ZEALAND HIT BY NEW SERIES OF VIOLENT TREMORSNo Further Casualties, but Residents of the Region Are Terrified.

By the Associated Press.
WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 9.—Residents of the devastated Hawke Bay district were terrified and driven from their temporary shelters by a new series of violent tremors today.

The earthquakes felled many buildings not wholly destroyed in last week's tremors, toppled piles of masonry and scattered the beaches, forcing the panic-stricken inhabitants to higher ground.

Napier, Hastings and the Wairoa district especially felt the shocks. The face of a bluff overlooking Napier was sheared off by a landslide. There were no casualties. Residents are living in tents and other temporary shelters. Communication lanes have been interrupted.

NAPIER, New Zealand, Feb. 9.—The number of deaths in the recent severe earthquakes in Napier was placed at 103 after further reconstruction and search of the ruins had been completed.

Among the survivors is James Colling, 90 years old, who dug himself out of the ruins of the Old Men's Home.

Survived.

The American Retailers' Association, composed of merchants from all over the country, opened its fifteenth semi-annual convention at Hotel Statler today.

Educational sessions, embracing discussions of every phase of modern merchandising, will open tonight and continue through Wednesday night. The formal program of the convention will end with a dinner Thursday night.

About 1500 merchants and buyers in St. Louis to purchase their spring stocks, are expected to attend the sessions.

A spring style show, presenting the latest trends in women's attire, will be given each night after the educational sessions.

J. D. Currethers, Oklahoma City, Ok., president of the association, said today the merchant who adjusts himself to present conditions will continue to do business just as retailers survived business depressions in 1903, 1907, 1914 and 1921.

"Most of the failures in business are due to continuing to use methods profitable in the past long after times have changed," Currethers said, "and competitive conditions today make it harder for the business man who attempts to operate by opinion and guess."

"I know of no instance where honest competition is not profitable to all able firms. If some one is in direct competition with the utmost, we shall achieve more than if we had the field to ourselves."

Speakers at the sessions will include members of the faculties of Washington and St. Louis universities. The following Washington University professors will speak: Dean George W. Stephens, "Economic Changes and Business Activities"; Dean Isidor Loeb, "Changing Relationships of Government and Business"; Prof. J. M. Klamon, "The Outlook for the Retailer in 1931"; Prof. Isaac M. Lippincott, "Knowing Your Stocks and Your Merchandise."

Prof. W. F. Gast and Prof. K. L. Richards of St. Louis University, both connected formerly with the merchandising business, will discuss "Merchandising and Management."

Registration of delegates began today and will continue through out the convention. Sessions are held at night, to permit the visitors to transact their business with St. Louis wholesale firms during the day.

RUSSIA TO INCREASE WHEAT
ACREAGE 10 PCT. THIS YEARU. S. Bureau Reports Restricted Outlet for American Grain in 1931 and 1932.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Russia's plans to increase wheat acreage 10 per cent during 1931 were outlined by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in summarizing the week's world crop and market prospects.

The report said Russian acreage for 1931 would total 277,000,000 acres and that the planned acreage of bread grains was 180,000,000 acres. The wheat acreage represents an increase of 10 per cent, and the bread grains acreage an increase of 16.8 per cent.

The bureau reported a continued restricted foreign outlet for American wheat in prospect for 1931 and 1932. It said low prices and plentiful supplies from other sources in foreign markets have reduced current United States wheat exports to negligible quantities.

The bureau estimated the 1930 world wheat crop at 2,777,000,000 bushels, eight per cent above the 1929 estimate.

FOR NEW MEXICO LIQUOR DISPENSARY

By the Associated Press.

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 9.—State manufacture and sale of liquor is proposed in measure introduced in the New Mexico House and Senate. The bills would create a State dispensary for the manufacture of liquor with restricted sale to permit holders. The bills are based on a contention that there is nothing in the eighteenth amendment, the Volstead act or the Constitution of the State of New Mexico to prohibit the State from manufacturing and selling liquors for other than beverage purposes.

George, at Equator.

By the Associated Press.
LIMA, Peru, Feb. 9.—The liner Oropeza, bearing the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, on their South American trip, arrived at Cabo Blanco, Peru, this morning.

ABOARD THE S. S. OROPEZA, Feb. 9.—The Prince of Wales had a great time this morning playing barber in shipboard festivities in celebration of the crossing of the Equator. Neptune had radiated: "To our royal brothers, S. S. Oropeza: Will board you in first dog watch. Have all initiates ready."

He duly arrived at the ship's swimming pool and presided over the ceremonies, ably aided by his Queen, who carried a bouquet of cabbages and other vegetables. The Prince of Wales was the barber, entitled "Scrapem." He wore a striped red and blue bathing suit with blue shorts and a yellow and green bathing cap, and carried an enormous wooden razor. He was assisted by his equerry, Maj. J. R. Ald, as the barber's mate, "Soapem," who wore a monkey jacket and shorts.

Gripping with delight, the Prince of Wales forced his brother on to the ducking stool, while doctors tried to force pills and liquid medicine down the victim's throat, and the barber's mate lathered him vigorously. Then the Prince of Wales piled his razor and, seizing George by the heels, toppled him into the water, where he ducked him mercilessly. Viscount Ednam and 20 other men underwent the same treatment.

NEW ENGLAND EMPLOYMENT
"IN FAIRLY GOOD CONDITION""Definite Improvement in Massato Temporary Work."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A definite improvement in employment in Massachusetts over a month ago was reported today by the President's Emergency Committee for Employment.

Col. Arthur Woods, commission chairman, said: "Our New England representatives find employment definitely greater in Massachusetts than one month ago, due largely to temporary work provided. Industrial organizations forecast a gradual increase in the number of jobs to July. Northern New England is in fairly good condition though unemployment still persists in cities.

"Arizona is reporting a good deal of distress, said to be due to the large number of transients."

Col. Woods cited 15 hospital construction projects of the Veterans Bureau, involving a total expenditure of $4,607,000, as being under way, along with Army post construction jobs in Atlantic states amounting to $6,324,000.

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 9.—Gloom prevailed in the headquarters of the National Congress here today as a result of the reply of Viceroy Lord Irwin to the recent letter of Mahatma Gandhi asking for an investigation into what the National leader termed gross cruelty and repression by police in subduing those engaged in the present independence movement.

Whatever hope there might have been for acceptance of Prime Minister MacDonald's proposal for qualified Indian home rule is regarded now as gone forever.

Members of the working committee of the Congress, including Gandhi, profess to see in the Viceroy's reply no evidence the Government really desires to make settlement with the Congress except on its own arbitrary terms. The message of the Viceroy is termed "curt and coldly official."

The hopelessness of the situation may be gauged from the fact that many members of the Working Committee in conversation with the Associated Press correspondent frankly said they expected to be back in jail within two weeks.

Gandhi himself is described as painfully disappointed and disillusioned.

Public Utility Valuations.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I AM much interested in the Union Electric Light and Power Co.'s attempt to have an excessive valuation placed on its properties to base its rates upon and to justify their exorbitance. What is true of this company is true of every privately owned utility in the country. The light and power companies are particularly notorious for their high-handed exploitation of the public. The average cost of production of electric power is five-eighths of a cent a kilowatt hour. Ability to charge 13 times the cost of production for any commodity signifies monopolistic control of the sale of the product and an exorbitant price for the product. To hide these swollen profits, power companies seek, and too often obtain, excessive valuations on their properties, for rate-making purposes.

Another subterfuge resorted to in order to hide these exorbitant profits from the public's gaze is to capitalize the excessive profits paid into the surplus account by the payment of stock dividends or the sale of stock at a nominal price to the stockholders, the owners—profiteering would be too obvious if the profits were all paid directly to the stockholders in cash dividends. Also some of the excessive profits are hidden by the payment of large bonuses to the officials of the power companies; salaries as large as the bonuses would indicate too plainly to the public that profits were unreasonably high.

Who owns and controls Union Electric? Cannot something be done to curb this vicious exploitation of the public? Why not put an excessive tax rate on these properties as they are excessively overvalued, and at the same time reduce the tax burden that the home owner is now bearing? J. R. FELLERS, Sparta, Ill.

A Defect in the Motor Code.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE motor code sponsored by the Automobile Club is defective in not providing for a State insurance fund to take care of the safety responsibility provision. This is simply camouflaged compulsory accident insurance. The average driver would "choose" to pay the excessive rate of the private insurance company because he could not deposit with the State his financial responsibility in the form of cash or surety bond.

When people force insurance upon themselves, they certainly lack all judgment if they fail to get it at cost.

FLORENCE S. EARLING.

Mr. Hoover and Drouth Relief.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN the matter of the proposed bill for the relief of the sufferers from the drought and other calamities, two questions may be pertinent:

1. Since the Federal Government may conscript men into the battle line in time of war, why should it not be obligated to save their lives in time of peace? It will take the words of more than two Presidents to make it clear that the Federal Government is not primarily obligated. They are a part of the Government in America and dependent upon it for their livelihood. If they are contributors in justice; but aid extended by private persons and corporations is charity and its recipients at best are near the status of worthy beggars.

2. Since the Federal Government has given billions of dollars directly and indirectly through subsidies and protection to prosperous industries and sections and individuals in the name of patriotism and high statesmanship, why should it not give the same Government aid to the relatively small sum of 25 millions, or $20 per capita, to those farming sections and individuals who, according to one theory, have profited least and, by another theory, have borne for a hundred years the burdens of protection?

From no one could such denial come with less grace than from a protectionist President, from a protectionist party and from a protectionist constituency. It comes with all grace from President Hoover as it would come from Mr. Grundy of Pennsylvania.

A President who is paternalistic toward business and individualistic toward impoverished men and women and children needs to defend by strong words his claim of being the world's greatest humanitarian. He can spend millions for a Boulder dam for local profit and convenience, but not one cent for starving Americans. J. L. E.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE Mark Twain Society congratulates you upon your splendid editorial entitled "Thanks to 'Dad' Violette," wherein you pay tribute to the memory of the man who presented the birthplace of Mark Twain to the State.

Your suggestion regarding the home of Eugene Field is excellent. It would be a splendid thing if the home of the great St. Louis poet could be bought, given to the city, and used as a literary museum. CYRIL CLEMENS.

MR. STIMSON'S FOREIGN POLICY.

Secretary of State Stimson's enunciation before the Council on Foreign Relations of principles which have governed him in dealing with revolutionary disturbances in Latin America is an important contribution to American history. It will add to the Secretary's professional stature.

Mr. Stimson says the Monroe Doctrine is conceived by us as a warning to foreign countries that they must not molest Latin America. If we hold to that interpretation and do not construe it to mean that we can do to Latin America what we will not permit others to do, all will be well. It can hardly be said that this was Mr. Roosevelt's conception of the Monroe Doctrine, nor can it be imagined that it was the conception of that dollar diplomacy which began in the time of Mr. Taft and prevailed through the regime of Mr. Coolidge. Such an interpretation as Mr. Stimson puts upon the Monroe Doctrine would make for friendship between the Americas. We could not, under such a construction, be in Haiti, in Nicaragua, or in any other little country which has felt the force of our arms. If we understand Mr. Hoover correctly, the Monroe Doctrine is to him what it also is to Mr. Stimson. We will know more about that when we have had time to observe the working out of the Hoover policy in Latin America. There is a better way to deal with those little Republics. If 11 bloody years in Haiti and more than 20 more or less bloody years in Nicaragua have not convinced us of it, we are hard to convince.

Mr. Stimson's statement of the policy upon which we recognize new governments, particularly those which spring up over night in Latin America, is refreshing. It is not an outright inconsistency that this policy has not made it possible to recognize Russia. The difference is that Russia postulates Communism, which is a thing as new in the world as it is abhorred, whereas other governments do not. Mr. Stimson says it is our policy to recognize de facto governments, and he has been doing this throughout Latin America except in countries affected by the Central American hegemony. Five Central American states are in a concord which rejects governments established by force, and as a party to that agreement we abide by it. Mr. Stimson disavows Mr. Wilson's refusal to recognize Latin American governments achieved by violence. He is on very solid ground there. The Secretary quotes Jefferson's enunciation of our foreign policy thus: "We cannot deny to other nations that principle whereon our own Government is founded—that every nation has a right to govern itself under what form it pleases and to change those forms at its own will."

There is no wiser American tradition. We cannot recast other peoples in our likeness. Every effort that we have made to do so has been disastrous. Mr. Stimson particularly mentions the Huerta incident, which was in truth a glaring departure from American policy. Mr. Wilson had every moral justification for disapproving of the assassination of Madero and assumption of the Mexican presidency by Gen. Huerta. Nevertheless, our refusal upon that occasion to recognize the Huerta Government, and the use of our great prestige to drive it from power, could only involve us in a sea of troubles if we apply it to all Latin America. It is a black mark against us, and Mr. Stimson very properly so characterizes it.

Mr. Stimson thinks we ought not to ship arms to incipient Latin American revolutionaries. He believes that to do so would be to keep much of Latin America in political ferment. We quite agree that it would. No greater service has been rendered to the peace of Latin America than Mr. Hoover's refusal to aid or abet the recent Escobar revolution in Mexico. The credit of the United States should in all cases be reserved to established governments. It is true that such a policy occasionally perpetuates tyranny, but it leaves the Latin American people free to work out their own salvation. There is no historical proof that they are not able to look out for themselves. Certainly the renaissance of Mexico without external aid is sufficient proof that they can, if they will, govern themselves as they like.

We hope to see Mr. Stimson practice so many fine professions.

AN ILLOGICAL BILL.

Under a proposed ordinance, known as Board Bill No. 700, owners of oil burners and other fuel feeding devices, excepting automatic coal stokers, would be forced to pay an annual inspection fee of $2 to the Department of Smoke Regulation. It seems to us this is a highly illogical procedure. Householders who have forsaken coal as a fuel for the purpose of cleanliness, and who have therefore done their bit in the matter of smoke abatement, would be penalized to provide revenue for the Smoke Department. If it is necessary for the Smoke Department to have more funds, it would be far more reasonable to levy an inspection tax on those who use coal and thus are responsible for the department's existence.

JACOB EPSTEIN AND HIS CRITICS.

There is orthodoxy in religion, orthodoxy in politics and orthodoxy in education. But for truly free orthodoxy, give us orthodoxy in art. For the last 20 years or more, Jacob Epstein, world famous sculptor, has been arousing the anger of those who believe that all progress in sculpture was ended about 300 B. C., and that any attempt to differ from classical models comes under the classification of high crimes and misdemeanors. The offensive against Epstein recurs whenever he makes a new statue, despite the fact that long since his impress upon his art has been definitely established and his work accepted as models for a new and important school of artistic thought.

Epstein's latest sculpture is called "Genesis." It is described as a huge marble carving of a woman with heavy, brooding Mongolian features, designed to represent the birth of mankind. For many years Epstein has mulled this idea in his mind, and it has taken him a year to carve it. Yet, even before it is unveiled, it is being denounced as something monstrous and unholy, and an English newspaper stooped to print the head of the figure, with the explanation that "taste forbids showing more." We submit that that establishes a new low in the history of the criticism of art.

Epstein's critics are not concerned over whether his work is profound, sincere, compelling. Their true objection to him is that he has departed from tradition. He refuses to do "pretty" things. Little nymphs, corymbants, dryads, Venuses and the whole catalogue of stereotypes, he leaves to those who like to work with them. Isn't that his privilege? Referring to his "Genesis," he says: "I was not trying to make a pretty statue; I wanted power and grandeur."

But power and grandeur will not be conceded by his critics to any sculptural figures whose limbs are not charmingly rounded, whose mouths are not trimmed to a Cupid's bow, whose eyebrows are not carefully penciled and whose dimensions, if female, do not approximate a perfect 36.

KANSAS CITY'S 10-YEAR PROGRAM.

Realizing that piecemeal civic development and hit-and-miss planning cannot keep up with the growth of a modern metropolis, Kansas City has put forward a 10-year plan of construction. After eight months of work, a citizens' committee of 1,000 members has brought forth a program calling for a bond issue of $80,000,000 by the city and of $8,450,000 by Jackson County. The proposal now goes to the City Council and the County Court, preliminary to the calling of a bond election, tentatively set for May 12.

In many respects the Kansas City program follows the broad outline of the $87,000,000 project voted by St. Louis in 1923, and now nearing completion. It allots $4,000,000 each for a city hall and court house, $4,500,000 for a municipal auditorium, $8,500,000 for street improvements, $5,500,000 for improving water supply facilities, $2,750,000 for parks and playgrounds and $2,000,000 for hospitals. Other items include a new city market, a stadium, new police district stations, flood protection, sewers, airport improvements and county road work.

Kansas City will find, just as St. Louis has now discovered, that even after completing such an ambitious program the city cannot afford to call a holiday in progress and rest on its laurels. As our own 10-year program nears completion, there awakens realization of the city's needs for a fresh attack on such problems as river front improvement, city lighting, additional street development, grade separations, outer parks and added hospital facilities. Our neighboring Missouri metropolis will show commendable civic spirit by adopting the program its committee has prepared. Once such progressive movements are started, the visible benefits will inspire their thorough completion.

PASSING OF THE JAZZ AGE.

Baseball, like golf, has adopted a revised ball, and this is something for the "solemn brood of care" to ponder. It is a symptom, a harbinger. To the "merry men of circumstance" it may seem a mere whim. As the experts of the sports see it, it is an effort by the golf rulers to keep golf within the limits of the landscape, while the purpose of the baseball powers is to restore the ancient quality of the game—the strategy, the tactics, the dash and daring that enthralled the bleachers before the once dramatic home run had been reduced to a slapstick antic. It is something far more profound than these explanations discern. It is the serene note of restraint. It is the first faint protest against the speed mania of our civilization. It is a challenge to the superlative. It is the signal of the retreat to sanity. It portends the dethronement of brawn and the reinstatement of skill. Beyond fairways and diamonds may be seen the sunset of jazz and the dawn of that rational day of leisure, superior technique—in a word, the triumphant comeback of art.

CHEAPER RAILROAD RATES.

The action of the Frisco railroad and seven competing lines in reducing passenger coach rates from 3.6 cents a mile to the pre-war 2-cent tariff will be watched with interest. In effect since Feb. 1, this downward revision is aimed at bus competition, which has shown a steadily increasing revenue while railway receipts have consistently shrunk. Since 1920, the peak in railway history, to 1929, there has been a decline of $428,885,000 in annual passenger revenue. Various expedients have been suggested and some have been tried, such as mergers, retrenchment in employees and taking off trains, but these have been more in the nature of a retreat and an adaptation to circumstances than an aggressive move to recapture lost business. Now this group of railroads has definitely taken the offensive.

The Frisco explains that coaches in past months have been moving with a minimum number of passengers, and that the road could carry from 300 to 500 per cent more persons without materially increasing the cost of train operation. To obtain this increase is the object of the bargain rates. The public is a direct beneficiary at a time when savings in any line are doubly appreciated. Then, too, a stimulus in rail travel would have a favorable reaction on other fields.

Several competing lines which objected to the proposal and appealed fruitlessly to the Interstate Commerce Commission have followed the sagacious pioneer counsel. "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." By their joining in the reduced rate movement, the benefits are extended and the field of the experiment becomes wide enough for a decisive test. Eastern lines, observing the plan, will doubtless inaugurate it if success marks the effort in the Southwest territory. While the result, of course, is still in doubt, the experiment is launched under auspicious conditions.

FEWER AND BETTER AUTO TIRES.

With advent of the balloon type, motor car tires became bigger and better. Just how much better, figures recently issued by the Department of Commerce indicate. Last year the country's motorists bought 1.66 new tires for each car, a decline of 21 per cent from the average of 1929. In 1917, they had bought 6.5 new tires per car. Auto tires, accordingly, last about four times as long now as they did 13 years ago, and develop greater mileage. With this, of course, good roads have considerable to do. For many years the pneumatic tire was the motorist's chief bane. The demountable rim brought the first relief. Now, with the low-pressure tire in general use, the spectacle of a family waiting dolefully at the side of the road while father labors with jacks, pliers, patches and pump has become well-nigh obsolete. Better tires have meant fewer tires, and have gone far to brighten the life of the motorist.

FARMER SALTS.

Joe Salts, who somehow had acquired a reputation as chieftain of beer runners on Chicago's South Side, has cleared his escutcheon of that blot, and has demonstrated to judicial satisfaction that his calling is that of farmer and summer resort owner. The Court wanted more proof than a deed to his farm near Winter, Wis., and he had it in a can of movie film.

On only one point does Joe fail to fill his role of farmer. He testified that last year his farm netted him $10,500.

Confucius and the War Lords

Despite prevalence of the military in China for the moment, peaceful doctrines of Confucius still rule people; no glory in war there, for sage put scholar at top of scale and soldier at bottom; war lords are passing product of transition period and will never militarize nation; return to traditional calm progress is predicted.

Herbert A. Miller, Department of Sociology, Ohio State University, in World Unity.

EVERYONE who has ever heard of Confucius even vaguely has a kind of respect for China, but when he reads of the war lords he thinks only with impatience of the country which permits them to exist. It is impossible to overestimate the importance of China, however much the medieval militarists may flourish and ravage the land. We should never forget that one-fourth of the whole population of the world lives in this one country with a unity, in spite of the press news, that is greater than exists in any other nation. China, at least in name, had a republic, at least in name. It had, of course, been impossible for the great mass of people to get either the idea or the habit of self-government, and down to 1921 a more or less chaotic government had gone on by momentum from the past. Then the old figures began to pass from the stage.

No one knows what will be the personnel of the Government a few weeks or a few months hence, but as against the system of war lords, I assert with a good deal of confidence that in the end Confucius and Dr. Sun will win against them. And this end is not far distant.

Confucius, by his ethics, made China an unconsciously unified people. Sun was the dominant figure in giving them the consciousness of a unified nation. This unity is now so strong, both unconsciously and consciously, that there is no force on earth that can break it.

The national movement is symbolized by a program laid down by Dr. Sun. There is only one party, the Kuomintang, which is both the national movement and the Government. Though there is wide difference of opinion, those who differ express allegiance to the same party principles. These principles include both an insistence on a program that will bring national self-respect and on a policy of social reconstruction. The people of the country are fairly unanimous about the first, but they differ about the second, and about whether the persons in power are using the best methods for securing either.

Confucius furnished the fundamentals which more than anything else have made China what she is, and preserved her through the ages. The present leaders are modernists, but modernism merely builds upon what already exists. There is such an awareness of pressing problems that there seems to be a neglect of the old; this old, however, has so thoroughly permeated the masses that they will not lose it before the inevitable return to it comes.

The rampant nationalism that now dominates China, however much it may turn to the West for its new ideas, must find some symbol to justify its claim to rights and distinction; this symbol it will find in the core of what is characteristically Chinese, namely, the lofty philosophy and moral code of Confucius, though modified enough to admit demands of modern life.

War lords are a rapidly passing incident. There is no possibility of developing militarism among this vast people. For the moment ideas are pouring into China from the West. Some day, not far distant, when the synthesis between East and West has been completed, the soul of China will pour back into the West a spirit from its long experience and noble thinking, something that the West will be glad to imitate.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.

SOME people may have thought Uncle Sam was a bit extravagant for these depressed times when they read the other day that he had spent $1,800,000 for an American Embassy in Berlin. The Government bought the Bluecher Palace, located at the head of Unter den Linden in the center of the city.

Perhaps it did seem a lot of money to pay for an Ambassador's residence. As a matter of fact, only a small part of the Bluecher Palace will be allotted to the American Ambassador for living quarters. An embassy—certainly this one in Berlin—is more than a place where brilliant social functions are given. Probably it more closely resembles a small office building. In the American Embassy office space must be provided for a personnel of 140.

THERE are offices for the entire American diplomatic staff, numbering 31; the entire consular staff, numbering 52; the members of the American military attaché staff, 12; naval attaché staff, 7; commercial attaché staff, 24; two Treasury Department representatives, a public health surgeon and a Labor Department adviser. Ambassador Sackett now rents a residence in Berlin for which he personally pays $12,000. Toward this he receives a rental allowance of $3000. The State Department estimates that the Government is now paying a total of $12,400 in rent annually for embassy offices in Berlin.

A conservative value of the building alone on the Bluecher property is placed at $700,000. The net cost of the land was out at $14,400 a square foot. A square foot of similar property in Washington, a city of considerably smaller size than Berlin, would cost $50, it is estimated.

THE location of the new embassy is regarded as the center of Berlin. It has two frontages; one looks out on the Central Park, the other faces Pariser Platz across which is the French Embassy. The Bluecher Palace and the German Foreign Office are around the corner on Wilhelmstrasse. The rear joins the Government gardens behind the President's palace. The site is comparable to that of the Plaza Hotel in New York city.

The American Government regards with favor such purchases in the larger capitals of Western Europe. In Paris, a site has been acquired for an office building in the Place de la Concorde. These large capitals were selected because they are centers through which most American travel passes, and because of our vast business commitments there.

It has been variously estimated that investments in Germany of American capital now total as high as $1 billion dollars. The convenience to an American traveler in finding all his official centralized in one building instead of being scattered in various parts of the city is the Government's expressed goal.

A German Sailor Speaks

THE KAISER'S COOLIES. By Theodor Plivier. (Alfred A. Knopf, New York City, $1.50.)

"THE KAISER'S COOLIES" appears to be unique among war books, impossible as this might seem. If any rate, it is the only book thus far accorded international acclaim that has dealt realistically with the everyday life of the German sailor during the Imperial High Seas Fleet during the World War. It is said to have been a big seller in Germany and is now being translated into nine languages. This is excellent news, for "The Kaiser's Coolies" is an important book in our day, revealing, as it does in a most convincing manner, yet another phase of the general incompetence of a ruling class that unfortunately did not lose its grip on the world when the Junkers were kicked out and the Kaiser became an amateur wood-chopper.

It is stated that the author, Theodor Plivier, in the High Seas Fleet, serving throughout the war and taking one man's part in the famous mutiny at the last. The tale he tells with little emphasis and with a circumstantiality that cannot be doubted is one of a ruling class that was a disgrace to the so-called "lower animals" generally, and yet the tale is concerned with the shepherds of men in a great civilization.

The book may be read for sensation only, for that is what the reader wants. And there is plenty of excitement. The author writes simply and vividly, describing raiding adventures in rotten hulks sent out to almost certain destruction, while the great ships lay in harbor, men being far cheaper than dreadnaughts. Also there are sufficient ghastly episodes to satisfy the most morbid craving for horrors in a notably neurotic era.

The story reaches its climax in the battle of Jutland, magnificently described by one who was in it, and the denouement is the mutiny. It is in the description of the mutiny that the key idea of the whole wretched mess is uttered—a mess that, apparently, has not yet reached its "peak." "Lord, man!" exclaims a common sailor to his fellow, "how d'you expect sense all of a sudden in these crazy times when lunatics rule the roost?"

Coming from a common sailor, such a sweeping criticism of the mighty may sound like a very large order indeed. But there is much in this book, as elsewhere, to suggest that many a greasy mechanic in the fleet was probably far more intelligent and humane than those who were (and are?)

A German Sailor Speaks

THE KAISER'S COOLIES. By Theodore Plivier. (Alfred A. Knopf, New York City, $2.50.)

IT appears to be unique among war books, impossible as this might seem. It is said to have been a big seller in Germany and is now translated into nine languages. It is stated that the author, Theodore Plivier, was himself a common sailor in the High Seas Fleet, serving throughout the war and taking one man's part in the famous mutiny at the end of the war. He tells with little emphasis and with a circumstantiality that cannot be doubted is one that, if it were told of hoboans and gorillas, would be a disgrace to the so-called "lower animals" generally, and yet the tale is concerned with the shepherds of men in a great civilization.

THE AMERICAN LEVIATHAN

By Charles A. Beard & William Beard. (The Macmillan Co., New York City, $5.)

It is now more than 40 years since James Bryce published his comprehensive study of American political and social institutions from the viewpoint of a constitutional lawyer and historian, and while his great work, "The American Commonwealth," will no doubt continue to be regarded as a classic in its field, for obvious reasons it can no longer be expected to bring the needed light to the subject of our complex political machine as it operates today. Since Bryce's work appeared, our society has passed out of the agricultural age into that of machine industrialism, and the changes have taken place in certain social relationships within the 40 years since Bryce wrote than in all the previous history of the Western World. Clearly, a comprehensive and authoritative study of our political and social organization as it operates in keeping with the conditions and demands of machine industrialism, was needed. It is that which the two Beards, father and son, now offer in "The American Leviathan." Charles Beard, it need hardly be said, is a recognized expert in Political Science and his son, William, is a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The whole complex governmental machine is discussed in detail, and while the work is at no point controversial, important social questions are presented in such a way as to stimulate intelligent discussion.

HONEYMOON TRAIL. By Gertrude Pawlow. (Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia, $2.)

A delightfully clean and interesting piece of light fiction is given to the public in this story, "Honey-moon Trail," by Gertrude Pawlow. It concerns a man who makes up his mind to marry a rich man and enjoy the luxuries of life instead of working in an office. How she accomplishes her determination and how she finds out that she would marry the same man whether he had money or job, is presented in an entirely adequate manner.

THE VERDICT OF THE AUDIENCE

By Gertrude Pawlow. (Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia, $2.)

The verdict of the audience in "Ladies of the Jury," which opened last night at the Orpheum Theater, was given in loud and frequent laughter and a dozen or more curtain calls. What the verdict of the mixed stage jury is in the case of the French chorus girl charged with the murder of her husband, is worth going to the Orpheum to learn.

THE VERDICT OF THE AUDIENCE

By Gertrude Pawlow. (Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia, $2.)

Breezy Blanche Ring plays the leading role of Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane, wealthy society woman. She made broad farce of the piece and was the life of the party from the start. There was a reminiscent hint of her "tip-a-daddy-lays" days in the Irish jig with which she closed the second act.

The play was written by Fred Ballard for Mrs. Fiske who produced it first in 1929 and is still appearing in it, although she will not visit St. Louis on her tour. It is ingenious in the first act in Judge Fish's somewhat informally conducted court room then put the audience to the same test to which the jury is put to determine the motive for the crime and the credibility of the witnesses. How Mrs. Crane, the lone holdout at the beginning of the jury's deliberations, by deft manipulation, cajolery, gentle bribery and a touch of fraud turns every one of her fellow jurors to her view furnishes the comedy.

There is plenty of variety of types in the mixed jury—madam president of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, an Irish cook, a Scotch gardener, a bride and a gas station owner. Lawrence P. Wall as a really man with a flair for oratory and Audrey Baird as the defendant are members of the original cast, imported for the present engagement and handle these key parts effectively. Pierre Watkins as foreman of the jury and May B. Hurst as his coadjutor in defying the vivacious Mrs. Crane until two minutes before the last curtain are as good as could be. Owen Davis Jr. had a comedy part as the Greek candy maker.

It was announced from the stage that Betty Bronson, "Peter Pan" of the movies, would appear two weeks hence in "Many a Slip," a comedy which is next in the repertoire of the Mary Hart Players.

Mrs. Minerva E. Carr Dies. Mrs. Minerva E. Carr of 5874 Cabanne avenue, widow of Thomas J. Carr, died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital after an illness of several months. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Carr is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eugenia Carr Nichols and Mrs. Josephine N. Myers of St. Louis, and four granddaughters, Bronxville, N. Y., Mrs. Frederick C. Bensack, Mrs. James M. Canavan and Miss Mary Bruce Nichols.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 9.

FEW of us realize how vast and intricate the organization of modern life becomes. Most of it is private and voluntary, authorized, supervised and taxed by the Government, but without any official connection.

The most complete system is the government which furnishes public utilities, education, order and justice. The largest investments are in transportation. Great lines of communication cover the land and reach under the sea. The news services bring in hourly the important transactions all over the earth to be distributed with equal rapidity.

Merchandising is carried on by hundreds of thousands of small concerns but within a bond of interrelationship and many common sources of supply. Economic life has become organized into a wide system of production, distribution, marketing and consumption. Commerce is the lifeblood of the nation and yet the necessity for co-operation and co-ordination is steadily enlarged.

With life so complicated, it is little wonder that from time to time, through the dislocation of some part, the whole organism is thrown out of adjustment. Our economic depression does not prove our system unsound but only indicates that we need more mental and moral power to keep all parts in harmonious relationship.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

AT HOLLYWOOD, FLA.

OF interest in St. Louis is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Hearne Adams of Washington and Dallas, Tex., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Faith Adams, and Philip Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen D. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams and their daughter have visited in St. Louis as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Fordyce, 35 Vandeventer place. The prospective bride attended the Spence School in New York and is a graduate of Vassar College, class of last June.

Mr. Young will graduate from the St. Lawrence University this year. His father is chairman of the board of the General Electric Co.

The wedding will take place this summer.

Miss Cornelia Scott of the Kingsway Hotel and her brother, George Scott of Chicago, sailed Saturday on the Aquitania for a several weeks' trip abroad.

Mrs. Louis H. Burlingham, 4622 Maryland avenue, will depart tomorrow for Kansas City to spend a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. Merrill E. Otis at a small dinner to be given by Judge and Mrs. Merrill E. Otis at their home and Thursday she will attend the Lincoln banquet. Mrs. Burlingham is member of the national board of the Girl Scouts and will attend a meeting of the new Girl Scout Council in St. Louis. In about a month she will go to New York to present a report of this district to the national organization.

Because of the illness of Edgar Curtis Taylor, the Vassar Club lecture has been postponed from tomorrow morning to Tuesday, Feb. 24, at which time Mr. Taylor will speak of "Modern Dramatists." The lecture will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the morning at the home of Mrs. Eugene McCarthy, 648 E. Ellenwood avenue.

Miss Marjorie Elizabeth Hammer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Hammer, 7486 Kingsbury boulevard, will be hostess at a Valentine bridge luncheon Saturday afternoon in the roof solarium of Hotel Chase. The guests will be members of the junior and senior classes at Mary Institute, where Miss Hammer is a student.

Mrs. David Randolph Calhoun of the Kingsbury apartments will depart today for Sarasota, Fla., to visit Mrs. Russell Kelley of Chicago, formerly Miss Dorothy Field, at the winter home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field of Chicago. She will remain a fortnight.

Mrs. John H. Duncan of the Cathedral apartments is expected home the latter part of this week after a fortnight's visit with friends in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Niedringhaus of the Ladue road, near Saturday for Olympia, Fla., to remain two weeks.

Mrs. Carl R. Gray Jr. is departed for her home in St. Paul, Minn., after a visit with her mother, Mrs. E. N. Beach, 4613 Westminster place.

The wedding of Miss Harriet Louise Baur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Louis Barr, 14 Arundel place, to Herman F. Spoehrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Spoehrer, 6236 Fauquier drive, took place Saturday afternoon at St. Louis, Feb. 22.

Religion seemed to be the most popular. Miss Ernestine Day, a featured member of the troupe, appeared most effective in Soror's "Danza Exotica" and an ensemble number, "Valse Brillante."

The second half of the program brought into view strange lands and strange peoples presented in a rapid succession of colorful pictures with brilliant costumes and bizarre lighting effects. There was the East Indian group, with Campbell Griggs and Jack Cole as camel boys; "Bavarian Holiday" with Shaw and Regenia Beck and Miss Day in a frolicsome picture of rustic lovers' dalliance, and the Hispanic Suite with three dances in sharp staccato rhythm. Probably the most bizarre and impressive of the foreign part of the program were Shaw's performance as a whirling dervish in a dance of the Eastern desert, and his "Invocation to the Thunderbird" in a group of American Indian dances, performed to the accompaniment of native drums. Miss Mary Campbell was pianist.

"The Chinese Bungalow," at Shubert a Drama of Oriental Love and Revenge.

THE CHINESE BUNGALOW—A drama in three acts by Marion Omond and James Corbett. Presented at the Shubert Theater with the following cast:

The Ash.....Florence Wilson
Abul.....Donald Wilson
Charlotte.....Helen Tucker
Harold.....Clyde Roberts
Sally.....Frank Hale
Richard.....Gilbert Douglas
Chinese Servants.....Nathaniel Sack and Michael Kato

Yuan Sing.....William Warner
Capt. Harley.....William Warner

By H. H. NIEMEYER.

"THE CHINESE BUNGALOW," which brought Walker Whiteside back to the Shubert Theater last night after an absence of several years, is another one of those Oriental affairs in which the star has specialized since his success, a good many seasons ago, with "Mr. Wu." Full of the tricks of the theater and not very convincing in its manner of telling the drama is not without its moments of suspense and it has the decided advantage of being splendidly played by Mr. Whiteside and a company which is excellent throughout. It is, indeed, the quiet and convincing acting of the star and his supporting cast which makes the piece really interesting. Badly done "The Chinese Bungalow" would stand out as an improbable and loosely constructed matter.

The action takes place in the summer home of Yuan Sing, a wealthy and English-educated Chinaman, on a rubber plantation in the Malay States. His wife is an Englishwoman and she and her sister long for the companionship of people of their own race. The wife turns to a young lover, an Englishman, and when Yuan discovers the affair he sends a trained Persian cat across the river to kill the invader of his home by scratching his hand with a poison-filled claw. The cat does the trick—finds, without trouble, the right man, scratches him, and no one else. A month or so later the murdered Englishman's brother comes to woo the wife's sister and is almost killed, very craftily, by the Chinaman. In the end, however, it is Yuan who dies and the play ends, tragically but happily for everyone else concerned.

Mr. Whiteside is excellent as Yuan Sing, the subtle heathen who goes about getting his revenge without resorting to any oratorical fireworks and his quiet manner adds considerably in making the role convincing.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK. DIARY of a modern Pepsy: Awake betimes and with my wife to a counting house, to clip the coupon off our bond. And on the way met up with the fascinating Margaret Porter and her new husband, Capt. Hopkins. Saw also the brooding poet Edwin Arlington Robinson.

Home and find an autographed copy of "Back Street" from Fannie Hurst, which I read in serial and brings out the colorful scenes of the Cincinnati of my day vividly. Then at my chore, laboring with ardor until the city lit up for the night.

In the evening to a play so smutty the face of a girl on my left was aflame. So driving through the park and to Frank Case's to party to which came Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Joan Crawford, Gilbert Miller, Anita Loos, Hendrick Willem Van Loon, Clifton Webb and others. To bed late.

THE swankiest saddle shop in town makes a plaster Paris cast of a horse's back to which it fits the saddle.

A speaking public manifesto to a marriageable daughter is on the market. It smacks of the auction books. They cost from $10,000 to in rare instances $40,000 and usually last from after theater until 9 o'clock breakfast.

OUTFITTING dogs becomes one of the phenomenal industries. A few years ago only larger department stores kept collars, harness and blankets for dogs. Now all department stores have dog departments and there are a score of special dog shops. In these one finds everything from rubber overshoes to motor goggles. Blankets are made to order, some trimmed with touches of ermine at $150 a blanket. There are dog kits in pin seal cases containing everything a dog needs on a journey, from silver comb to an unsinkable rubber ball. These traveling outfits range from $50 to $125. And if you feel resentment over such Louis XIV extravaganzas, blame the owner not the dog. The dog is happier playing with an old shoe or gnawing on a 10-day buried bone.

IN ONE of the shops they specialize in rain coats for the dog. These are of various colors to match the coats. There's a close-up!

AND a Gay Ninety Shop is opening on Madison avenue, featuring thing-umbos that tickled mid-Victorians. There will be Turkish Corner equipments, prints of the Gibson girl looking into the mirror and creating the illusion of a skull, sailor straw hats, parched and crokinole boards. Also hand painted neckties and fancy headed hats. The proprietor believes a Gay Ninety era is here and people will buy the what-nots of the period just as they have bought Indian and other relics.

UNCONSCIOUS sarcasm of a certain columnist's wife: "That fellow we passed just now smiled. Either he knew you or was looking at your overcoat."

THIS overcoat has a civet cat collar, black with splashes of white, and appears to inspire not only the hosts of friends, but perfect strangers as well. Perhaps the most intentional insult came from a hat girl in a cafe. At the table I suddenly realized I had no claim check for the coat and rushed back for one. "I didn't think you would come back," chirped the girl. "I had a five to one bet you were trying to get rid of it."

IN THE same cafe a shy young thing rattled off her order from caviar to peacans. As the waiter started away, her escort shrieked: "She can also recite Gunga Din!" (Copyright, 1931.)

Eagles' Anniversary, Wednesday. The thirty-first anniversary of the founding of St. Louis Aerie, No. 41, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be observed Wednesday night with a program at Eagles' Home, Jefferson and Lafayette avenues. John S. Parry of Kansas City, grand secretary of the organization, will speak.

Funeral of J. George Aff. The funeral of J. George Aff, president of the F. W. Clemens Feed Co., was held today at the Wacker-Heldelrie undertaking establishment, 3634 Gravois avenue. Burial was in New St. Paul's churchyard, Aff, who was 51 years old and resided at 1112 Kingshighway Park, died Friday of pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, a son, Frank G. Aff, and a daughter, Helen M. Aff.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Drees Celebrate. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Drees, 3121 Arsenal street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday. The ceremony was reenacted at St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church with four of the original bridesmaids and groomsmen in attendance.

By Dent McSkimming.

Immediately after defeating the Coca-Cola team at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon, Manager Foley of the Ben Miller club signed two stars of the Tabler team to assist the Miller club in its drive for the national soccer championship. Sam Dueker, goal tender, and Jim Cronin, forward, were released by Johnny Marre of the Tablers and signed by Foley. In order to be eligible for the Western semifinal round, which is set for Feb. 22, it was necessary that Dueker and Cronin be signed before midnight last night. Neither Dueker nor Cronin has played in a national cup game this season.

Typical cup-tie football was the order of the day as the Millers battled down the field in a hard-fought game against the Coca-Cola team. The Coca-Cola team was led by a very stout Ben Miller defense.

The two goals scored against Kavanagh's team were not the kind that will live long in the memory of the spectators, because in each case the ball might have been turned aside or the shot smothered. Kickham counted the first, a slashing drive from a very sharp angle, and Curran the second, from a scrumming. The best goal of the day was Joe McCarthy's rifle shot from eight yards out, on a pass from Grenon. Here, too, the tally might have been averted if Center Halfback Crook had not given his attention to the ball instead of trying to put a hammerkick on Grenon.

Grenon Closely Covered.

Play started two minutes before 3 o'clock by Referee James MacFarlane of Cleveland. The field was slippery, but not muddy. The Coca-Cola team were close to getting results in the first three minutes when Goalender Hamm found a long shot hard to handle, fumbled, and carried the ball into the post for a corner kick, but nothing came of it. Two more corner kicks for Kavanagh's team, in the first 12 minutes of play, found the Millers extended to defend their goal.

Halfback Joe Diaz close covering of Cronin took a great deal out of the outside right's game and thereby disturbed the Coca-Cola attack. But, to compensate for this, Outside Left Lee Hennessy came through with the best game of the season. His crosses to center were perfect.

The Millers were a long time getting anything done in the way of attack, principally because of a lack of system. The clearances of the halfbacks, Tracy and Crook, were not well placed passes, but just long kicks in the general direction of center forward and as a result Fullbacks McGil and Gockel looked like the best backs in the league. BEARS TO MEET
BADGER FIVE IN GAME, TONIGHT

By James M. Gould.

Washington University's rather surprising basketball team steps into higher class competition by engaging the Wisconsin U. Badgers at Madison tonight. The Badgers are the third Big Ten team on the Washington schedule, the Bears having lost early season engagements to Indiana and Purdue.

Returning home tomorrow, the Bears will be called upon to meet the strong Concordia Seminary team Wednesday night at the Field House. This is an extra contest and one with a bearing on the city collegiate title inasmuch as the Seminary have won and lost in two games with the St. Louis U. Billikens and the Bears have dropped a close decision to the same Billikens in the only game played in the annual series.

When Ernie Quigley, famous football, baseball and basketball official, called basketball "the most uncertain of all games," he "had right," as the French have it. The Bears lost their first three games of the season, then turned on Missouri to win by a single point, and on Creighton to win by three points. Defeats followed at the hands of Drake and Grinnell and Washington's hopes for the Valley basketball title were as small as those of the Browns to beat the Athletics out next year. But, again reversing, Coach White's team trounced the Oklahoma Aggies and ran their streak to three in a row with victories over Westminster and Drake. The last two games were played without the services of Saussele and Whitehouse, two backswingers stars who passed from the scene because they found their backs harder to handle than a basketball.

Today sees the Bears, instead of out of the Valley race, decidedly in the lead, sharing first place with the Creighton Blue Jays. As Creighton is not scheduled for a Conference game this week and the Bears engage Grinnell here Friday night, Washington comes the battle-royal with Creighton booked here.

The present standing in the great race Valley title follows:

SATIN SPAR IN EASY VICTORY IN $5000 HANDICAP

By the Associated Press.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Feb. 8.—Satin Spar, 4-year-old chestnut gelding, bore the colors of the Bill Bee Stable in an easy five-length victory in the $5000 added stake, the Spa Handicap, which featured the racing program here yesterday. The time for the mile and one-sixteenth grind over the muddy track was 1:47.10.

Alexander Pantegues, running for Rodney and Lloyd Pantegues, furnished all the competition for the winner that the race afforded, but was never really dangerous. Alexander Pantegues holds the track record of 1:42.10 for the distance, but did not fancy the heavy going.

Back of Alexander Pantegues came Caruso, the W. R. Coe runner, to garner third place honors and on his heels finished McGonigle, the campaigner of the Green-Blair Stable. Vanity and Shasta Broom made up the field as five entries declined the issue.

The victory of Satin Spar was clear-cut and well earned. He was away with the leaders at the lifting of the barrier and took the lead almost at once and held it to the end. Two-dollar mutual tickets on the winner paid $16 to win, $4.20 to place and $2.40 to show.

PRO BASKET LEAGUE PLANS EXPANSION TO 16 CLUBS NEXT YEAR

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—The American Professional Basketball League will be expanded into a 16-club organization for the 1931-32 season, with eight clubs in the West and eight in the East, George Halas, operator of the Chicago Grains, said today.

The eight teams will represent two separate leagues, with a championship series between the titleholders at the end of the season. According to Halas, the Western section of the league will be composed of Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Dayton, Milwaukee and two teams from Chicago.

MID-WESTERN RACING BODY TO HOLD MEETS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DANVILLE, Ill., Feb. 9.—A racing program for several Illinois cities this summer was practically assured today following an announcement by Richard Levine, president of the Mid-Western Jockey Club, which is to sponsor the racing circuit.

In each city the races will be held for a period of 10 days, with six races being given daily. The purses will be $300 with one big handicap race for each meeting with an added purse of $2500. In the fall another series will be staged in the same cities, according to present plans.

The first series in Danville, will start May 20. Other cities in the circuit, as announced by Levine, are Rockford, Quincy, Peoria, Bloomington, Decatur and Galesburg.

Betting at the tracks will be by the mutual system, which was legalized by the State Legislature of 1926-27.

NEW PLANE FOR SUBMARINES

This craft can easily be dismantled and stored in an eight-foot tube, all in three minutes. It is being tested in the East.

LOTS OF MEDALS BUT NO JOB

Joseph T. Angelo, former member of the Tank Corps, who appeared before Ways and Means Committee, in Washington, to plead for former soldiers now out of work. He walked from Camden, N. J., to the capital.

"UP IN THE AIR" FOR A BRIDGE GAME

Ty Cobb, former baseball star, Maureen Orcutt, Canadian golf champion, General Traub, U. S. A., retired, and Sir Derrick Wernher, bridge expert, having a game of contract in a big cabin plane flying over Atlanta.

YOUNG CARUSO READY FOR RADIO DEBUT

Son of the great tenor, who has been taking lessons from noted instructor, to sing one of his father's favorite arias in first appearance.

PLANS ANOTHER LONG AIR FLIGHT

Mrs. Adelaide Spencer Cleaver, having flown from London to India, is now crossing Pacific on ocean liner to fly her tiny Moth plane back from India to London.

OF ROYAL RANK ON PAPER

The former Margaret Watson of Washington, now the wife of the eldest son of the late Duke de Vendome, head of the House of Orleans.

AUSTRIA'S PRETTIEST

Fraulein Herta Van Haentjens, native of Vienna, who finished second to French entry in Europe's latest beauty contest.

ANOTHER AID FOR THE BARBER

Electrical device which causes the hair to stand upright—and the barber's, too—thus making it easy to trim anyone's thatch evenly. It is the invention of Charles Hawkins of Portland, Ore.

SNOW SCULPTURE AT DARTMOUTH

Scores of strange figures rising on the campus of New Hampshire college in preparation for winter carnival. Every frat house has something to show.

LITTLE RUSSIANS

Group of youngsters in Moscow with their snow shovels. They are taught to labor early in life over there.

WOMEN'S POLO TEAM

COMBINING GOLF AND BILLIARDS

Old timers will think this ruins both games, but anyway it is a form of indoor recreation offered in Sydney, Australia, where miniature golf has made an invasion.

OFFICERS INDICTED IN FAILURE OF BANK OF U.S.

President, Vice President, Chairman of Board and Counsel Among Those Named in True Bills by New York Grand Jury.

ARRAIGNMENT SET FOR TOMORROW

Felonies Charged—Van Load of Records of Depository Alleged to Have Been Destroyed in Hotel Incinerator.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Eight officers and directors of the Bank of United States, which had deposits of $169,000,000 when the State Bank Department closed it after a run last December, were indicted today by a county grand jury.

The men, including President Bernard K. Marcus, Executive Vice President Saul Singer, and Chairman C. Stanley Mitchell of the board of directors, were accused of felonies under the sections of the penal law, which fixes responsibilities of bank officers. Six indictments were returned. Their contents were kept secret pending arraignment tomorrow of the seven men they named. Testimony has been presented at inquiries into the bank's affairs in an effort to show that funds were applied by means of subsidiaries. Outstanding among the men accused was Isidor J. Kresel, a director and legal adviser of the bank, who has been prosecuting an Appellate Court investigation of the bank's affairs in New York Magistrate's court. Others named are A. S. White, director of the Bank of United States; Herbert Singer, director of the bank; and Herbert Singer, clerk in Kresel's law office and brother of Saul Singer. Henry W. Miller, director and general counsel, and Simon Kugel, vice chairman of the board and director of Bankers Corporation.

Records Reported Destroyed. Just before the indictments were presented it was charged at the State Attorney-General's inquiry into the bank that a van load of the records of the closed bank had been destroyed in the incinerator of the Bessford Hotel on Central Park West. Pollock lives in the hotel.

Saul Ravitch, president of the B. U. S. Corporation, which built and managed the hotel for a subsidiary of the Bank of United States, said his permission to use the incinerator had been asked by someone in the branch of the bank at Seventy-second street and First Avenue.

The excuse given by this "someone," Ravitch testified, was that the branch was being moved and it was desirable to get rid of obsolete records.

Assistant Deputy Attorney-General Harry A. Gordon charged that the van contained 1000 bundles of papers, journals, cash books and correspondence of all kinds. He said it took two or three days to dispose of the documents.

Kresel Before Grand Jury. Kresel is special prosecutor in the current Appellate Court inquiry into New York Magistrate's court, and as such has turned up a mass of testimony—alleging corruption in the city judiciary. Herbert Singer was one of Kresel's clerks.

Kresel appeared as a surprise witness before the grand jury yesterday, getting up from a sick bed to testify. Indictments were to have been returned yesterday noon but were put off to today. He was reported today to be confined to bed again, suffering from laryngitis.

The closing of the bank Dec. 11 was the latest banking collapse in the history of the country. The bank was not a member of the New York Clearing House or of the Federal Reserve system, and, of course, had no connection with the Government.

Indicated frozen or worthless assets of the bank have been placed at $57,000,000. Resources have been reported as $257,562,000, of which the chief item appears as loans totaling $145,000,000. Some total of loans of $50,000,000 there are $42,000,000 without security. Loans to subsidiaries of $25,995,967 have been shown. There is one overdraft of $47,000, money or signed notes of others $20,440,444.
